THE RISE CHECKED

Another Sensational Day in the Wheat Pits of the World.

PRICES TAKE A SMALL TUMBLE.

For a Time the Bulls Were at the Mercy of the Bears.

HIGH FIGURES AGAIN REACHED.

The Markets Are Much Disturbed and Everywhere Is Uncertainty.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The first curb quotation for September wheat today was 102¾, an advance of 3½ cents over Saturday's close. At the same time 72½ was bid for September corn, 2 cents over Saturday's close. December wheat sold between 101¼ and 100½, while 35¾ was bid for December corn.

The news all pointed to an exceedingly bullish day's session in all the grain pits. Liverpool's opening was to advance the same morning was equal to 5¾ cents per bushel. Saturday's advance was 7 cents per bushel. The Liverpool advance in corn, equal to 2 2-5@2 1-2 cents per bushel, was considerably over the local advance, however. A noteworthy fact was that of the world's wheat shipments last week, 7,210,000 bushels, about five-sevenths or 5,218,000 bushels being contributed by America. The usual Monday morning crop reports were almost uniformly bad. Especially was this true of corn. Weather reports showed slightly higher temperatures west. The 1:30 P. M. Liverpool cables showed a recession of ½ penny in some wheat futures and in the curb price for September. Wheat here dropped to 100½.

All the buoyancy was out of wheat when the opening bell rang on the regular board. The highest price touched in the initial trading was 99½ for September, the exact quotation at which the market closed Saturday. Simultaneous sales at the opening were all the way down a cent lower to 98½ for September and in a few minutes later sales were being recorded at 97 and even at 96½. Enormous quantities of wheat were for sale from every direction. It was hard to sell, buyers being relatively very scarce. Harris, Countryman and Lindblom were particularly conspicuous sellers. It looks as if many holders were availing themselves of the excitement to realize profits by selling.

The lowest point reached was 95 for September, a plunge of 7½ from the high point on the curb. Corn sympathized with the slump in wheat and the first regular trading was at 33 and all the way down to 32 for September as compared with 33 3-8 on the curb.

After the opening rush to sell, there was some recovery and at 10 A. M. September wheat was back to 98 and September corn to 32 3-8. So much September what was sold that it looked as if the bull crowd had distributed out to us.

People found it so hard to sell the September option that they turned around and sold December as a hedge.

The bull crowd took up the market again after the first 30 minutes and the concerted strength at Liverpool had a steadying influence. Gradually the price worked up to 99½ for September and fluctuated between that price and 98. People were satisfied now to trade in ordinary 5,000 bushel lots. The break in wheat, the milder weather and the big receipts checked the corn market. Armour, Smith and Bartlett-Frazer were large sellers of corn.

Around 11 o'clock a tendency to sag was becoming quite noticeable, and at 11:15 the price for September wheat was 97¾, or two cents under the top figure reached on the rally after the break at the opening. Corn fell away ½c to 31 7-8 for September.

GOOD CROP REPORTS RECEIVED IN LONDON.

France Will Not Reduce the Import Tax on Wheat and Flour.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the grain situation, says:

"The wheat harvest is about half over, and the reports continue to be fairly favorable, in spite of interruptions of many heavy showers and the delay in carrying the wheat cut. The foreign harvests are unfavorably reported. The latest advices from France, Austro-Hungary, Russia and Roumania are all more or less unfavorable."

A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Paris, printed this afternoon, says that there will be no reduction in the tax on imported wheat and flour. The reply of the Government to the representations on the subject says the temporary scarcity of wheat in the French market is owing to the bad harvest, and that so soon as the American and Australian wheats arrive at French ports the situation will right itself.

Continuing, the correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette telegraphs: "The Government, especially now that the elections are drawing near, is mortally afraid of offending the small peasant, who usually grows wheat. On the other hand, the working classes, who constitute the mass of the population in the large towns, still live largely on bread."

NEW YORK WHEAT TAKES A TUMBLE.

An Anxiety to Sell Even Though the Prices May Go Much Higher.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Wheat had another sensational opening today, but less one sided than of late. Bulls were startled to find heavy selling orders from foreign and other sources which broke prices during the first half hour about four cents a bushel from the highest curb price of Saturday. December opened at 104, broke to 101, under vigorous selling pressure, and then rebounded violently to 104½, later weakening to 103¾. Liverpool cables were exceedingly strong at 1½d over Saturday. The French markets were disappointing.

The feature was felt in many quarters that it was time to get profits on wheat, even though it might eventually rush through to 125. Corn was very active over a wide range of prices. September opened 2c higher at 38, but later fell to 37 with a break in wheat.

PRICE OF FLOUR IS RAISED IN PARIS.

Socialists Attempt to Do Politics on the Strength of Wheat Excitement.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PARIS, August 23.—Flour rose fifty centimes a sack at Marseilles on Saturday and a further rise is expected, though the impending arrivals from New York and Buenos Ayres are expected to check the rise.

The agitation for the abolition of the duties on grain is spreading rapidly and at Turbes, Rodez and Cette there is much excitement on the subject. The Figaro expresses the belief that the raise will not last long as no scarcity is feared, adding that the socialists will not succeed in the alarmist campaign which they are alleged to have sprung for a political purpose. The Justice declares the price of bread has no relation to the present price of wheat.

PLENTY OF ARGENTINE GRAIN

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 23.—It is officially announced that a large crop of grain is anticipated in the Argentine Republic, the grain under cultivation covering larger areas than ever before. The wool clip, it is further stated will be heavy.

IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Wheat excited; December 165¾; May 164. Barley strong; December 99½.

M'NEAR MAKES A FORTUNE IN WHEAT.

The High Values Naturally Assist the Farmers to Raise Their Mortgages.

The effect of the good prices being attained for wheat is being felt locally. Already some of the banks have released mortgages that have been held for years and last week's figures show that more mortgages were released than for the corresponding period in many years.

G. W. McNear has reaped a rich harvest. His firm are unquestionably the heaviest operators of the season.

Ever since its commencement they have been purchasers on the theory that the price of wheat would go to high figures. The amount of grain which they have contracted to take is enormous, as is evidenced by the fact that they have engaged fully thirty warehoses in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys to store their purchases and are already shipping abroad. How much they have cleaned up or how much more they will add to their bank account should the present figures be maintained or advance, it is impossible to estimate, but it must be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Other large shippers are Balfour, Guthrie & Company and Girvin & Eyre, who have made profitable purchases for their clients and possibly for themselves.

Harry Bolte, a Groom of but Two Months, Leaves His Bride.

Harry Bolte of San Francisco, a native of Germany and Dorothea Koop, of Stetten, Germany, were married by Justice Clift June 20th, in the presence of Anna and E. H. Lincoln of Oakland. It has now transpired that both the groom and the marriage license, which was issued by County Clerk Jordan March 8th, 1897, are missing, much to the consternation of the bride.

A young man called at the County Recorder's office Friday and enquired whether the document had been duly recorded. He was informed that it was, much to his surprise. It was not in the possession of the Justice.

The young man said that Bolte had disappeared two weeks after the wedding. The bride, to protect her name, wished to know if the ceremony had been recorded.

The County Clerk prepared an affidavit citing the issuance of the license. A certified copy of the entry on the docket was also furnished by Justice Clift.

RETURNED FROM THEIR HONEYMOON.

While Away S. M. Shortridge Won a Very Important Case in the South.

Samuel M. Shortridge and his bride have returned from their honeymoon, and are staying at the Palace Hotel. They had a very enjoyable trip, and Mr. Shirtridge's lucky star evidently accompanied him on his wedding tour, for while in Southern California he won a very important suit involving $1,000,000. Stephen M. White and other legal lights were arrayed against him, while associated with him was Jefferson Chandler, the Washington attorney who figured in th Blythe case.

The suit won by Mr. Shortridge was the Golden Cross Mining and Milling Company against Hinckley, Spiers & Hays and others. The property belonged to W. D. Hedges, and was about to be sold by the trustees to pay some small debts, when the property is in reality worth $1,500,000. In speaking of the matter, Mr. Shortridge said: "It was a regular wrecking job; just as Jay Gould might have wrecked a railroad. I told them in court what they were. Of course, not all the creditors were interested in the work. There were those who only wanted their money, but there were others who wanted to see the property sold, and they would have bought it in for a song. But we blocked their scheme. On July 8th we had a receiver appointed and an injunction issued restraining the trustees from selling the property or working it. Both have been made permanent, and all we have to do is to pay off the indebtedness on the mine, which we can do from the output of the mine if given a little time."

The case went over in the Police Court till tomorrow to allow the filing of a complaint.

A divorce suit instituted by the wife is now pending in the Superior Court.

George Allen, the young man, who was arrested at Shell Mound Park Saturday, will be examined on a charge of grand larceny, August 31st. Allen was arrested while in the act of picking a woman's pocket. He secured a purse containing $5 cents. When arrested by Detective Cody, he said that he was simply borrowing the money, as he intended going to the Clondyke.

A notice was filed today that Mrs. Emilie G. Cohen will move for relief from the judgment of the court on the 12th inst. in the matter of damages awarded as condemnation proceedings in the opening of Lincoln avenue, Alameda. The ground on which the move is to be made is that the action of the court was not made a matter of record and that the attorney for Mrs. Cohen was not made aware of the decision in the case.

Claus Spreckels has filed an answer as one of the defendants in the case of the Golden Rule Mutual Building and Loan Association against Charles Lainer et al., denying the execution of a note for $2,600.

The Remains Unidentified.

The remains of the man found on the shore of Bay Farm Island by Frank Silva yesterday morning have not yet been identified.

The body is in such an advanced state of decomposition that identification will be extremely difficult. The man was evidently between 30 and 40 years of age. He had very thick black hair, and wore a black sack coat and blue overalls. He was evidently a laboring or seafaring man.

The remains are at the Alameda morgue.

STRIKERS CONFER

It Is Probable That the Trouble May Be Adjusted Today.

THE MINERS MAY WIN OUT.

Operators Anxious to Agree to the Terms Demanded by Workmen.

NO TROUBLE IN MICHIGAN.

Miners There Pay No Attention to the Addresses of Agitators.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—The conference between the mine officials and the executive committee of the coal operators met at 11 o'clock this morning. The miners were represented by National President Ratchford, District President Dolan and Secretary Warner. The operators' committee was composed of J. C. Dysart, G. W. Schluderberg, J. N. O'Neil and J. B. Zerbe, F. M. Osborne, U. A. Andrews, W. P. Bonney and W. J. Rend.

President Ratchford in an interview said he wanted it distinctly understood that he had never been asked by the operators to confer with them.

"The statement," said he, "that I had refused a conference is not correct. I am here now at the request of Mr. Dolan. We will only agree to the operators' proposition if they will pay 69 cents. That is the lowest rate the miners will accept. It must be 69 cents, or the strike will be continued until the demand is granted. If the Pittsburg operators settle upon our terms, a general conference will not be necessary."

A large number of operators had congregated in the corridors of the Monongahela House. There was much dissatisfaction among them. Many were opposed to breaking the strike by importing men, and quite a large number urged the acceptance of the miners' terms. It was claimed that it was not the Pittsburg operators who wanted to compromise or break the strike, but that it was the large mine owners and lake shippers. The conference ended at noon, after an agreement had been made for a general conference of operators and miners' officials at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The miner's officials insisted on all the operators being present, and it was decided to make the conference an open one.

The operators, who had been kept on the outside, were public at when this decision was arrived at. Some said they would favor the granting of the 69 cent rate at the opening of the conference, if it was seen that the miners' officials would not consent to a compromise to let out the operators who have contracts based on a 51 cent mining rate.

AGITATORS HAVE NO EFFECT IN MICHIGAN.

Harmony Prevails Between Union and Non-Union Men and Employers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Aug. 23.—There will be no strike of miners. Speeches by the labor leaders yesterday did not have the desired effect, and all the mines are working this morning. The attempt to force non-union men out proved a failure. The companies will discriminate against union men if the latter interfere with those who do not belong to the union. There is no ill feeling and there will be no strike. There is no trouble at Negaunee.

The attorneys for the defendant took exception.

TO RENUMBER THE HOUSES

The Superintendent of Streets Has a Place In View.

The Matter Will Be Submitted to the Different Business Organizations.

Superintendent of Streets Miller is at work on an ordinance to re-number the houses of the city. The matter has been considered by him for some time, but he has been awaiting the outcome of the annexation question.

Mr. Miller states that he will do nothing in the matter until he has talked it over with the Merchants' Exchange, Board of Trade and the various improvement clubs. If it seems to be the will of the people that the houses should be re-numbered, the ordinance will be introduced in the Council; if not, nothing will be done in the matter.

The proposition is to number the houses in accordance with the number of the streets. On streets running from north to south, the numbers will be so arranged that but 100 numbers shall be in a block. From First to second streets, the numbers will be from 100 to 200; from Second to Third, the numbers will be from 200 to 300, and so on, as is the case in most large cities.

As the matter now stands, it is difficult to find a house by the number. Houses on streets running east and west from Lake Merritt to the bay will not be changed.

The reason of the change is that as the city becomes larger the confusion becomes greater, and as the change must come sometime, Mr. Miller says it might as well be done at once. A systematic numbering of houses, he says, would be beneficial in more ways than one.

TRIED TO DIE TO HIDE HER SHAME.

Pretty Ada Frierson Takes Poison Because She Was Deceived.

The Mother Says the Girl Is Not in Her Right Mind.

An attractive young Oakland girl by the name of Ada Frierson attempted to commit suicide last night in the Yukon saloon, 25 Turk street, San Francisco. She lives in this city at 871 Filbert street with her mother.

She alleges that Edward Comyns, the proprietor, has betrayed and deserted her.

She went into the saloon and ordered a glass of sherry, emptied some pennyroyal into it and drained the glass. She was soon unconscious, and was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where antidotes were administered. When questioned as to her motives after having regained consciousness, she said that about five weeks ago Comyns drugged and ruined her. She declared that she was engaged to a young man by the name of Robert Wilcox, the son of a wealthy hardware merchant in Fairmount, Minn. She wrote a letter to her mother saying that her disgrace drove her to the mad act and begging forgiveness.

In her purse a card bore the following note:

"Dear Eddy: You will not be blamed. Although I blame you, I do not wish others to. Hope you will do better."

"Eddy" refers to Edward Comyns," the proprietor of the saloon.

A Tribune representative saw the mother this morning. "The girl was not in her right mind when she wrote that letter," said the mother. "The whole story is a trumped up affair. I make absolute denial of the whole story."

Mrs. Frierson feels her daughter's misfortune keenly. One of the sisters of the girl went to San Francisco this morning to ascertain how serious the unfortunate girl's condition is.

ATTACKING GREATER OAKLAND.

Fitzgerald & Abbott have about finished the petition for the purpose of contesting the legality of the annexation to Oakland of Temescal, Piedmont and other sections north of the city. It is likely that the document will be filed about the middle of the week.

It is understood that a point which is not claimed to be either new or original, will be raised in the petition and that is as regards the possibility of so apportioning the annexed district as to enable the residents to vote under the provisions of the charter.

The charter requires that the city shall be redistricted every ten years and that in the redistricting the wards shall be so divided that they will have as nearly as possible the same number of voters.

There is no provision in it setting forth how annexed districts shall be apportioned so as to equalize the total ward vote. As a consequence, as the matter stands now, the annexed district is looked upon as a part of the Second ward. As a consequence, that ward is entirely out of proportion with the other wards of the city, both with respect to population and the extent of territory.

There is no provision in the law to enable the residents in the annexed district to vote and it is held that such is a hardship not contemplated by law and yet one for which the charter makes no provision for advocating.

A BUSY SESSION.

The County Supervisors Settle Many Matters of Interest.

The Board of Supervisors met this considered the advisability of partially reopening the old Catholic cemetery at Mission San Jose.

Attorney J. J. Scrivner was present to represent the contestants and J. F. Coffaney to argue for those who were desirous of opening the cemetery.

Chas. C. Melver sent the following letter to the Board:

"Your communication in reference to the renewal of burials in the old church cemetery in this town calls for an urgent protest from me, as I consider such a course, if adopted, would be a serious menace to the health of all our citizens. I cannot believe that our Board of Supervisors will allow such an injustice to be perpetrated on us. The land for the new burial ground was kindly donated by Juan Gallegos, and has proved satisfactory up to now, as it is removed sufficiently far from the town to make it, in a sanitary measure, safe. That some few parties should be interested through a pecuniary reason for having this change allowed should be earnestly considered by the Board, and I trust they will not allow it to take place. The old cemetery was over-crowded with bodies many years ago."

A. J. Saizer also sent in a long communication relative to the matter. He affirmed that only the following had any legal claim to the lots: Richard Burns, John Amara, Eugenia de Gloria Feria, Mrs. Damigan, Pat Donohue, Mrs. G. Norris, Mrs. Charles Beg, Maurice A. Lavarer, Mrs. J. Harlin, Mrs. T. Costello, Mr. Madden, Mrs. Sweeley, Mrs. M. Glannon, P. Costello, Mrs. R. Appel, Mrs. Susan Rose, Mrs. Cassidy, J. F. Coffaney, Ed Ryan, Martin Orez Annecocchea, T. Higuera, Murphy, Mrs. Doherty, M. Landeger.

The communication further stated:

"Owing to the other petitioners having lost all marks on their plots and consequently all accurate identity of the same, and to the deplorable manner in which the clergy of this parish have conducted this matter, not keeping any records of the locality of lots sold, only issuing receipts for amount paid for each lot and size thereof and in consequence of the over-crowded condition of said cemetery and the opinion of the health officers of the district, condemning the continuance of burials in said cemetery as well as to prevent the desecration of graves, we respectfully ask you not to allow any other burials, but those above stated, to take place in the said cemetery.

"Archbishop Riordan has promised that he will deed equal plots in the new cemetery to any one who will present proper claims in the old and not included in the list on account of having lost marks on their plots and will send a written order to that effect."

VETERANS ASSEMBLE

Thousands Flock to the Grand Army Encampment at Buffalo.

DELEGATIONS ON PARADE.

Efforts Being Made to Harmonize the Two Women's Sections.

LITTLE HOPE OF AGREEMENT.

For a Whole Week the Defenders of the Nation Will Convene.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Grand Army week opened with fair weather. All indications point to a colossal encampment, beyond the expectation of the most sanguine citizen. Train loads of veterans and their friends are constantly arriving and a person might think there was a great parade in progress as the posts march up the main street to their quarters. This morning the women's headquarters were formally opened. Here the visitors will be looked after. Everything possible has been provided for their comfort.

Thadeus S. Clarkson, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army arrived today. He was met at the station by local G. A. R. men and the local reception committee and escorted to the Iroquois Hotel where he was officially received by Colonel Winans, Chief of the Headquarters' Staff.

Among the G. A. R. posts which have arrived are the following: Naval Post Department, Pennsylvania; Farragut Association, United States Grand Army Post and Burley Posts, all of Philadelphia; Welsh Post, Columbia, Pennsylvania; Departments of Tennessee and Georgia; George A. Andrew Post of Boston; Rankin Post of Brooklyn, New York; LaFayette Post of New York; Harding Post of St. Louis; Tod Post of Youngstown, Ohio, and the New Hampshire delegation, which is pushing the candidacy of John C. Linnehan of Concord, New Hampshire, for Commander-in-Chief.

Rear Admiral Cyrus Sears arrived last night and will hoist the flag on the steamer Idaho. The Idaho has been assigned to the Naval veterans.

During the week an effort will be made to unite the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. There has been a good deal of discussion over a possible union, but it is the desire of the Grand Army that the tenets of the Woman's Relief Corps prevails as to the eligibility clause and the ladies of the G. A. R. do not want to give up on that point, so that the matter of a union seems as far away as when the two organization took to different paths.

"To cherish and emulate the deeds of our noble army nurses and of all loyal women who rendered loving service to our country in her hour of peril" is the aim of the Woman's Relief Corps.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. accept only the "wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of honorably discharged soldiers" and reject the "loyal" women who had no relatives in the war to whom they can trace relationship.

The programme today includes the opening at Camp Jewett at four o'clock, a civic parade this evening and a reception this evening to Commander in Chief Clarkson.

Fought at a Picnic.

A fight at a picnic in Temescal Park yesterday resulted in the arrest of W. J. Vanverkaay, a San Francisco photographer, and B. D. E. Konig, an employe of the Contra Costa Laundry. Both men were badly used up. They were arrested on complaint of a man named Schweitzbier, who charged them with attacking him. They will be tried on a charge of battery tomorrow.

SPED TO DISASTER

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 22.—An Eastbound extra freight train on the Lake Erie & Western Railroad crashed into an excursion train on the Detroit & Lima Northern at the junction of the crossing two miles from this city at 10:15 Friday night. The engine and three cars of the freight train and two of the passenger coaches were wrecked and fully forty passengers were injured, several fatally.

The excursion was run by the People's Tea Store of this city to Toledo and return and most of the passengers were residents of Lima. An engine [illegible] and the passengers who were not so seriously injured were brought to the Dayton [illegible] depot in the city about one o'clock this morning.

A MINER'S EXPERIENCE.

Ed. Thorp Tells Contradictory Stories About His Wealth.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 22.—The steamer George E. Starr arrived at her dock yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock, from Dyea and Skaguay, and was met by a great crowd of people; it [illegible] been reported that several men from Clondyke, having made their way to salt water overland, were on board. This report proved true, but the interest centered in the appearance of one passenger, Ed Thorp, who was expected to come down on the Portland, and who is reported to have $130,000 in Clondyke gold in his possession.

Willis Thorpe, the father of Ed Thorpe, is said to have received a letter a few days ago on the Alki from his son saying that he had $150,000 in gold. Now Thorp and his three companions on the Starr unite only on one point in telling their story and that is that they have $20,000 between them.

Four on the steamer are direct from Dawson. They are Gen. L. Stewart, Ed Thorp, Joe Winterfield and Jack Ross, and their Indian guide Schwatka.

Stewart went to Yukon in July, 1896, and located a claim on Eldorado creek, a branch of Bonanza creek, and about sixteen miles from Dawson. When the party left Dawson City July 5th nothing had been heard of the discoveries on the Stewart river.

It is the intention of the party to return to their mines at once on the next trip of the steamer George E. Starr if they can get ready. They all came out after supplies. Mr. Stewart [illegible] supplies [illegible] short in the spring, and that flour went up to $70 per sack. At present it is $12 per cwt.

Old miners on the Yukon say that the transportation company promises every year to have plenty of provisions for the next winter, but that the supply invariably runs short.

Buying household hardware is a task to many people who don't know how to find the desirable qualities. Take the question of deciding between the merits of certain "Ice cream freezers," nothing more annoying.

The undersigned, after seven years' suffering, without being able to obtain any relief, resolved to see Dr. Wong, but I did not obtain any help. I then determined to see Dr. Tom She Bin, and in three months I was completely cured. I commenced feeling better soon after commencing his treatment, and I was all cured.

MRS. JENNIE SAUNDERS.
1016 West 7th st., Los Angeles, Cal.

This is to certify that Dr. Tom She Bin has cured me of that dreadful disease known as heart disease, and also of weak lungs. I do make this deposition for the especial benefit of those suffering similar ailments. I must say that I was treated by the best doctor in Chicago, and after I lost all hopes I concluded to come to San Francisco for a change of climate, and immediately I heard of the wonderful cures of Dr. Tom She Bin, so I consulted him, with such good luck that after one month and a half from the time he started to treat my case I felt entirely well.

MRS. E. FRENCK,
409 Thomas Street, Chicago, Ill.

I, the undersigned, do recommend Dr. Tom She Bin as one of the best doctors to cure rheumatism, having been suffering for three years, and also been under the treatment of six skillful doctors for four months without feeling any relief. I determined to set myself under the care of Dr. Tom She Bin, who gave me immediate relief, and in the course of five weeks I was enjoying good health.

PANFILO MURILLO,
Pomona, California.

My son, nine years of age, utterly prostrated with typhoid fever for six weeks he was under the explicit care of hospital doctors, but without avail. All his body was declared incurable. I heard the name of Doctor Tom She Bin, and at once was induced to see him, and I left my son to his absolute care. Fifteen days after my son was able to play around the yard. I fully believe Doctor Tom She Bin saved my son's life.

CARRIE CONTRERAS
630 Mission Road, Los Angeles, Cal.

The undersigned does hereby recommend Dr. Tom She Bin as the only competent doctor. He has cured me entirely from throat disease, which many doctors declared incurable. J. A. OWENS
Euclid Block, N. Los Angeles, Cal.

San Francisco, January 31st, 1897.

I, John A. Fain, do hereby certify that I suffered with piles for over twelve years. Dr. Tom She Bin cured me in very short time.

San Francisco, February 26th, 1897.

I have been suffering under the most dreadful disease for two years past and lost all hopes of recovering, being unable to move for four months. At last I concluded to take Dr. Tom She Bin's Wonderful Chinese herbs, and in six weeks after my health was completely restored.

J. E. MEDRAN,
756 Workmain St., East Los Angeles, Cal.

Montenzou, Cal., March 1st, 1897.

I write this letter for the benefit of any one who may be in trouble, as I have been. About fourteen years ago I was taken sick. The doctors pronounced it ulceration of the stomach and said it would end in a cancer.

At times I would vomit a black and bloody looking matter, also a great deal of white mucus. The disease would make me very nervous and despondent. At different times during my ailment I would get some relief for a few months, then it would come back as bad or worse than ever. I doctored with several as good doctors as I could find in the East and also here in California, but none of them effected a cure.

I was advised to consult Dr. Tom She Bin, which I did about the 1st of October, 1892.

He said my trouble was the cancer of the stomach. I commenced taking his medicine immediately. For the first three or four months there seemed to be but a very little change. After that time I improved very fast and am now able to do quite a good day's work. I have every reason to believe he has effected a permanent cure for me. J. L. CARPENTER.

San Francisco, March 2, 1897.

I saw Dr. Tom She Bin's advertisement I first come up to 615 Kearny street to feel my pulse. He tell me what trouble I had, was true. I had a pain over my body, and chilly. I put my case to him; first week I take Chinese Herb, one week I was great deal better. I been sick for six years. I go to white physician, cannot do me any good. I take Dr. Tom She Bin's Herbs six week; I was all well. I was cured about one year and never pain again.

MRS. J. SANGALL,
17 Lafayette Place, between Green and Union, Kearny and Dupont, San Francisco, Cal.

San Francisco, March 4th, 1897.

By these presents I do hereby recommend Dr. Tom She Bin as a successful doctor to cure the dreadful disease styled consumption, so common among all classes. He has restored my health in the short term of twenty days, for the trifling amount of $7.50 per day.

Signed, L. C. FLORES,

This is to certify that I have been entirely cured of stomach trouble by Dr. Tom She Bin in two months. I had tried several American physicians and they had failed to cure me.

MABEL BARBARER,

I have taken treatment for my kidneys, that have bothered me for a long while, and also catarrh of the stomach, and also chronic diarrhoea, and was cured in two weeks by Dr. Tom She Bin, also blood poison in my thumb.

San Francisco, March 6, 1897.

I had gravel and kidney trouble four years. My friends sent me to Dr. Tom She Bin. He felt my pulse, and he told me what trouble I had. I put my case in his hands, and took herbs twice a day. In four weeks my troubles were all cured. Now my flesh is all good. The last three or four years I went to white doctors, but never did me any good. Now I have got well and am in good health.

JENS J. JENSEN,
213½ Clara St., San Francisco, Cal.

Geo. Osgoodby, author of the world-famous Murchison letter to Lord Sackville West, the English Embassador, in 1888, writes concerning Dr. Tom She Bin, now selling Chinese Teas and Herbs at the Sanitarium, 615 Kearny street, San Francisco, Cal., and says:

Pomona, Los Angeles Co., Cal., March 7, 1897.

For the benefit of those who are suffering with chronic diseases, I will say that many years of severe suffering and futile treatment ended in Bright's disease of the kidneys, of which Dr. Tom She Bin completely cured me, after correctly and minutely describing my malady from the pulse, without asking a question. He is a medical marvel, and without a peer in his profession. Respectfully,

GEO. OSGOODBY.

San Francisco, March 13th, 1897.

I wish to give my testimony in behalf of Dr. Tom She Bin. It is about two months ago that I fell sick with influenza, being unable to procure no other help than that of domestic remedies. I fell worse and worse, until I was totally paralyzed. I was induced to consult Tom She Bin, and he, by the aid of his wonderful Chinese herbs. I felt somewhat relieved in twenty-four hours, and he agreed to treat me for the sum of two hundred dollars, and now I feel grateful to the doctor for his efforts. Very truly,

HILARIO PRECIADO,
Los Angeles, Cal.

This is to certify that Dr. Tom She Bin cured me of kidney trouble and stricture. Was sick for some time, but found no relief until I tried this doctor. He entirely cured me, and I have not been troubled since. AL. L. DILLEY.

UNION LABEL

MONDAY............AUGUST 23, 1897.

You can expect almost anything on the streets of San Francisco but you mustn't expectorate.

Strange that gold discoveries generally direct one to places or conditions that are just about as inaccessible as the vault of a bank.

"Never put ice inside a melon; it destroys its flavor," is a table hint just placed before the public. What is the flavor of ice anyhow?

A St. Paul woman is lecturing on Many a married man will endorse all "The Power of the Human Voice." she says on the subject.

Queen Victoria is working on a project by which all deserving widows of 75 years and upwards will be pensioned. She knows what it's like herself.

If as Joaquin Miller says, strawberries grow on the top of Chilcoot Pass it will be hard to persuade most people that it is the icy, frost-bitten peak that has been pictured.

An Eastern millionaire has gone to toil as a laborer so that he can practically study the social problem. He should have put a laborer in his place in order to even things up.

If the South Polar Expedition also finds a Clondyke what lots of fun there will be. It ought to pay steamship companies now-a-days to salt a few places out near the termini of their lines.

The Postmaster General has made a proper and popular move in allowing overtime to the letter carriers. No class of men is harder worked nor more faithful to duty than the postoffice employes.

Instead of wheat being worth only 50 cents a bushel and the silver in a dollar worth a dollar, the wheat is now up to the dollar mark and the silver down to the 50 cent one. Bryan will have to acknowledge pretty soon that the free silver jig is up.

Who ever is interested in the Corral Hollow Railroad, should try and rush it through at once so as to take advantage of the big boom there. It is stated that within three months the mines will have an output of 500 tons a day, and within six months, 1000 tons a day.

Dan Stuart is pretty good at drawing the theatrical long bow. He told his London managers that the vedascope pictures of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight have been better shown a day in America. It is doubtful if they cleared $100 a day while on this Coast.

The New York World is offering a prize of $100 to the first person who can guess the individual Croker will favor for Mayor of that city. This is an indirect compliment to the Tammany boss, for it is as hard as anything to tell what he is doing, he must be remarkably cunning.

Omaha is making elaborate preparations for the Transmississippi and International Exposition she will hold in June next. Our State Board of Trade should see to it that California is well represented for there will undoubtedly be a big crowd in attendance and it is a good exhibit we could tempt many of them to come still farther west.

Clara Fallmer, the Oakland actress, must have chameleon eyes. This is the way Alex Rix described them in yesterday's Examiner: "She has little dark eyes. They are the most wonderful and most beautiful dark eyes I have ever seen." And this is the way they appeared to the reporter of another paper: "The bright, clear, hazel eyes were veiled in an instant and the answer came very slowly."

The editor of the Colusa Sun has discovered a "No Man's Land" judging from the following item he presents to his readers: "There is a mountainous plain near Colusa, Lake, Glenn and Mendocino counties at the corners. It belongs to none of these counties and none claim it. The main peak of it is called 'Bloody Rock.'" A mountainous plain" is novelty enough in itself to make the place remarkable.

One might reasonably think that there would be so little profit in counterfeiting pennies that the sharpers would not bother with them. There is, however said to be an enormous quantity in circulation and from $1 to $2 worth find their way into the United States Treasury every day. They are cut in two parts and returned to those who deposited them. So cleverly is the counterfeiting done that only experts can detect the difference.

If the Code Commissioners could suggest to the next Legislature a plan by which some of the red tape could be taken off our penal laws they would earn the thanks of everyone but criminals. The life of a murderer can be prolonged almost indefinitely now, as witness the Durant case. We might take a little lesson from Continental Europe in this regard. Canovas was assassinated on the 8th of this month and his murderer was tried, sentenced and executed within thirteen days.

PROFITS IN HONEY.

Fresh evidence is continually coming to the front of the many opportunities that are offered to home seekers in California. The State was once known to the agricultural world simply as the location of cattle ranches and mammoth wheat-fields, so huge that our farmers were depicted as being satisfied if their machine-operated harvesters succeeded in picking up four-fifths of, and it has long since been demonstrated establishment of fruit farms and it was found that with a ten acre patch it was possible to clear up an income of several thousand dollars a year. One by one, different projects presented themselves and were taken advantage of and it has long since been demonstrated that a man with five acres of good land in California can clear up more than with a quarter of a section in the East.

One of the least exploited of these small farm industries is as regards making honey. With a practically perpetual summer and the ever-recurring blossoming of wild flowers, it is no task for the bees to store up the toothsome extract and the business makes a comfortable little adjunct to a farmer's income. An idea of what can be done in this line has just been given by an up-country farmer. "I took up bee culture," he said, "because it was little trouble and paid good money. Three years ago I invested $100 in bees and stands. This season my first crop of honey amounted to 50 cases of about four pounds to the case, my second crop will reach two hundred pounds, my third two hundred, and my fourth one hundred, the crops coming off respectively in the months of June, August, September and October. I get from eight to ten cents a pound for the honey and am not able to supply the demand."

At an average of nine cents a pound this cleared up $21—a nice little side issue. The business is in fact best adapted for small farms instead of being conducted on a large scale, for in order to make big profit, it would be necessary to keep such huge swarms of bees that the adjacent country would have a hard time to furnish the necessary material. With the industry going on a comparatively small scale at places scattered here and there, the bees would have plenty of territory to work on and there would be no question as to the results. Let more of our Alameda county farmers go into the business. There is a permanent market for the honey in San Francisco and no county in the State is better adapted for bees than ours, so why not take advantage of it.

Here is an interesting definition of an oft-used verb "Somebody who wants to explain what the editorial 'we' signifies, says the meaning varies to suit the circumstances. For instance, to suit the circumstances. For instance, when you read that "we expect our wife home today," "we" refers to the editor; when it is "we are a little late with our work," it includes the whole office force, even the devil and towel; "we are having a boom," the town is meant; "we received over 700,000 immigrants last year," and it embraces the nation; but "we have hog cholera in our midst" only refers to the man who takes the journal two or three years without paying for it."

A skirt dance as evidence is a novelty even for Oakland, the center of all things marvelous. If this sort of thing goes on it will be a positive delight to serve on a Police jury and instead of shunning the subpoenaing officer as if he were a leper he will be the most sought for man in town.

The rivalry between St. Paul and Minneapolis brings out some good things now and then. The St. Paul papers are claiming that daylight burglars stole a piano in Minneapolis at noon the other day, and had it in the grass on Hennepin avenue—one of the principle thoroughfares of the town.

Pope Leo has got the chance of his reign to make himself popular in America. A word of approval from him will save Miss Cisneros from the twenty years' imprisonment directed by Weyler, and there will be rejoicing throughout the length and breadth of the United States.

With deep water ships unloading coal and then taking on cargoes at wharves on the Oakland water front, our harbor will be one in fact as well as in name. And this is the sort of thing the curious opposition of certain Alameda mud flat makers is trying to stop.

There are almost myriads of original McKinley men, but a novelty in the shape of an original Bryan man has been unearthed. He is W. H. Crary of Omaha and it is to be hoped that he is heartily ashamed of himself.

Joaquin Miller omits to state in his correspondence how his supply of Mazatlan dog is holding out. In that land where dogs are so eaten sausage is doubtless something new and may be in big demand.

Coxey wants to be Governor of Ohio. However, Coxey's wants rather few people besides Coxey himself, and he will doubtless get another warning very soon to keep off the grass.

A POLAR QUEST

Unconquerably, men venture on the quest
And seek an ocean amplitude unsailed
Cold, virgin, awful. Scorning ease and rest,
And heedless of the heroes who have failed,
They face the ice floes with a dauntless zest.

The polar quest! Life's offer to the strong!
To pass beyond the pale to do and dare,
Leaving a name that stirs us like a song,
And making captive some strange Otherwhere,
Though grim the conquest and the labor long.

Forever courage kindles, faith moves forth
To find the mystic floodway of the North.
—Richard Burton in Leslie's Weekly.

PEOPLE AND THINGS

The picture of Ambassador Hay in court dress makes him resemble the modern ringmaster in a circus.

A courageous Connecticut woman confesses that she has read the New York Ledger every week for the last forty-one years.

The Empress of Austria takes her bath every morning at 5 o'clock, which is earlier and oftener than most women do who are not Empresses.

Paul Dunbar, the colored poet, who is being lionized in London, couldn't obtain lodgings at a third rate hotel if he were to visit Kansas City.

Jacob Lorillard Jr. is disinherited by the will of his mother, but as the estate only amounted to quarter of a million dollars young Jacob will not be likely to lose any sleep.

A Chicago paper says that the society women of that city will hold a gymkhana next week, and Uncle Reuben wants to know if they are going to hold it by the tail.

Ernest Hogan, the clever Topeka negro, who is the author of "All Coons Look Alike to Me" and other darktown melodies, is now in New York, and a report from there says he has been sued for divorce by his white wife.

If there are no female angels in heaven, as a New Jersey preacher states, then man will have to be content with those he finds on earth, and their name is legion, in spite of the cynics.

A Tennessee man, having been deserted by a rich woman whom he had married, is suing her for a year's support. The poor fellow, thus thrown on the world, has no wife to provide for him.

Near Paris, Tex., lightning struck a farm house and knocked a young man insensible." His sister, who happened to be standing on a newspaper near him, escaped. Subscribe at once.

"What is the matter with Smith? He doesn't seem half as vain as he used to." "He has just found out how little he amounts to. He learned to ride a wheel without the papers saying a word about it."

There is one class of people to which the treasure of the Clondyke cannot, for obvious reasons, furnish temptation—the Chicago boodle alderman. They are doing pretty well just where they are, thank you.

The story that Thomas A. Edison thoroughly enjoys trashy novels is quite reasonable. Nobody wants to be scientific and intellectual all the time—at least, nobody who is able to put his knowledge to any good use.

Recent statistics show that the English citizen's heaviest bill after food, rent, clothing and drink is his gas bill. England pays $100,000,000 a year to the gas companies, and it is calculated that the gas companies realize a profit of $20,000,000 a year.

One of Kansas City's prominent citizens who was killed in a runaway Saturday left behind two brothers, two sisters, two sons and two daughters. The vehicle was a two horse one and had two occupants. His office was on the second floor of the Shiedley building. He was brought to this vicinity by his parents from Kentucky when he was just 2 years old.

An old housekeeper declares that but one side of the servant girl topic is ever given in the press, and that great injustice is done the woman help. She avers that the average servant girl, on leaving a place, invariably conveys to her new mistress a great amount of information as to the domestic life and eccentricities of the family lately employing her, omitting nothing that she can possibly think of. Some of this may be true and some of it may not be perfectly accurate but it is all entertaining, and the system enables the women of a community to know just what is going on in every home. Yet no credit is ever given the poor girl for what she knows.

HERE AND THERE.

Goethe once presented a set of his works to Harvard University—a fact brought to light some years ago in the process of recataloguing the German literature of the library.

A Cambridge, Mass., woman, during several very hot days, hired a small boy with a sponge to stand at a watering trough near her home and wet the heads of all the horses as they came up to drink.

"As to the claim that ice cream will cure the hiccoughs," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "my experience with several young nieces convinces me that the only thing ice cream will cure is the craving for ice cream, and it only does that temporarily."

Commenting on the recent eclipse, an old negro said: "De sun been a-hearin' all dis cussin 'bout hot weather, an he 'bout make up his min' dat he'd ta'n loose en give de worl' somepin' fer talk 'bout; en Lawd only knows what he would a-done ef de moon hadn't took en come between 'em."

A Wellsville, N. Y., woman, carrying a baby in her arms, stepped upon the railroad track in front of an approaching train to rescue her pet dog. She and the child will die, but the pampered pride of the household escaped without the loss of a single curl in his lovely caudal appendage. The days of heroic deeds are not yet passed.

A murderer, who had been attended by a physician addressed the following note to the latter from the jail: "Dear Doctor: Please make out your bill and send it to me right away. My trial comes off next week, and I am to be insane at that time, and will so continue until I reach the asylum. I want to pay my debts before I lose my mind."

The proprietor of a Maine summer resort, who sought to deceive his guests by having a thermometer constructed of sufficient length to allow the bulb to be concealed in an ice box, has come to grief. The guests would take a look at the mercury and then insist on having wood fires kindled in their rooms.

The young woman—By the way, what does the word Clondyke mean? The young man—They tell me it means reindeer. The young woman (with a charming blush)—I should think it would be more appropriate if it meant "snowdear," wouldn't you? The young man (trembling but with great promptness)—Yes, dear.

A Boston paper tells a story of a Smith College girl who was awakened in her summer home by the cry of "Fire! Fire!" Cool and collected, she donned her clothes, and then thought: "Now, what do I value the most?" After mature reflection, she took a list of books from her writing desk and left the house. "I am so glad I saved it," she said afterward to a sympathizing friend, "for if I had lost it I could not tell what books I read last year."

"The murderers found no sympathy among the other men, and the crime was reported to the Bahia authorities, and Consul Shute immediately arrested the men when they reached shore."

FASHION HINTS.

Most of the new tucked evening gowns of gauzy material have rows of handsome Venetian lace insertion on bodies and skirt. Other toilets are made with Gainsborough fichus of tulle or mousseline de soie crossed.

Sleeves with tucked uppers are much affected for fancy thin gowns, and the sleeves are considered handsomer when the tucks are graduated. These graduated tucks have created a furore. They are used for everything.

Wing drapery on sleeves is very much in vogue. The top is fulled and the fullness is drawn tight and tacked down across the middle, then allowed to stand out in a wide frill from the back of the arm like a wing, as its name denotes.

Pink is so becoming to youth that it is much worn. One pretty gown of pink crepe de chine has horizontal rows of lace let into the bodice beneath a lace-frilled cape, while five gathered tucks appear below the waist. Pink taffetas formed the slip underneath.

Some of the new fall importations of house gowns have a double sleeve, a sheath sleeve underneath and over this a full one hanging loosely down. It is prognosticated that this is but the entering wedge for a revival of the dainty lace and mull undersleeves of antebellum days.

Tulle skirts are covered from hem to waist with tiny ruchings, and the amount of labor expended in making one is something to turn the hair gray. Cerise and flame colored gauzes with faint chine patterns are being sent over from Paris, the bodices cut square, the sleeves ruffled and transparent.

Mousseline de soie and chiffon have seemingly reached the acme of perfection in coloring and design, the black with floral chine patterns being especially handsome over colored silks. Lovely skirts are made of the sun-ray accordion plaiting in chiffon and the mousseline, though they are not especially durable.

Chiffon, which has hitherto been considered proper in the shape of entire gowns only for evening wear, is now made for daytime in light pink, yellow, heliotrope, blue and spring green. The skirts are made with graduated flounces or frills to the waist, and the proud wearer does not dare sit down for fear of ruining the fragile fabric.

Accordion-plaited skirts of black silk grenadine, canvas tulle fancy French and Russian nets and similar diaphanous textiles are made up over gored foundations of brilliant Turkish red or golden-yellow satin. Portions of the bodice and sleeves are likewise plaited and finished with elegant decorations in cut jet.

Matrons are ordering the transparent black-ribbed materials, trigoline being the favoritee. A black trigoline, corded yet transparent, was embroidered around the skirt with white feather stitching and had a short but stylish bolero of poppy-red silk trimmed with black and white in squares and secured at the crossings with ornamental buttons. The high collar and plaitings at the back, and there were lace epaulette and a ruffled belt of black and white silk.

WITH THE WAGS.

"Willie Walkins told me I was a peach."
"I wonder if he referred to that fuzz on your chin?"—Chicago Record.

"When a woman asks a peach peddler, "Are they good?" does she think he is going to say no?—Roxbury Gazette.

The Captain (boisterously)—Come, old man, brace up! What's got into you?
Passenger—If you don't put me ashore you'll very soon see.—Brooklyn Life.

"I wonder why they call the expenses of a church the running expenses?" said Mrs. Martin.

"Jane Gray is dreadfully forgetful. She is getting so she can't remember the least little thing."
"Too bad."

"There can be no doubt that she ornaments society."
"Who are you talking about now?"
"I presume you know about whom I am talking." I was alluding to the face-bleach woman."—Indianapolis Journal.

"The hotel" explained the clerk, "is in the hands of a receiver."
"Where can I find him?"
"Well an hour ago he was receiving breakfast; shortly afterward he received three cocktails, and in about ten minutes he'll be here to receive his salary. Take a chair"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Somerville woman who was persuaded by a neighbor to drink some "pure juice of the grape" the other day, protests that it is not intoxicating, but just the same she spent all the afternoon trying to sew chlorate of potash tablets for buttons on her husband's shirts.—Somerville Journal.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

This is emphatically the season of fruit stains and mildew. Fortunately, too, it is the season of grass bleaching and hot sunshine. Mildew is easily taken out of white goods with chloride of lime, but it cannot be used on colored clothes. Put a small amount of lime in cold water and stir until it is entirely dissolved; then strain through cheese cloth and immerse the mildewed article. Work up and down, and as soon as the spots have bleached out rinse it through three or four waters and dry.

Fruit stains of all kinds will come out of white goods if they are taken in time and treated exactly right. Raspberry and strawberry stains will disappear if boiling hot soft water is poured over them. Oxalic acid will remove all other fruit stains, and a bottle should always be kept in the laundry. As it is very poisonous it should be plainly labeled and kept out of the way of children. Get the acid in crystallized form, put in a bottle, and pour cold water over it. If part remains undissolved, add water as the solution is used. It is sure to remove fruit, leather, or ink stains. Touch only the spots and rince quickly and thoroughly when they disappear. For lace or muslin add a little sal soda or ammonia to the first rinsing water. Dilute the acid at first, and make it stronger if necessary.

Boiling hot soft water will remove tea, coffee, or chocolate stains. If tea stains are of long standing, soak in glycerine and wash the latter out with cold water.

Use diluted ammonia for orange and lemon stains.

Make a thick paste of lemon or pieplant juice and salt and starch for red iron rust, and expose to the sun. If one application is not effectual, try again. Oxalic acid is just as sure for black iron rust.

Alcohol or molasses will take out grass stains.

Cover wine stains with salt and lay in the sun.

Nothing will remove blood stains better than cold soap suds, to which kerosene has been added. Kerosene will also remove tar or fresh paint.

Machine oil or vaseline will come out easily when washed with soap and cold water.

A Progressive Chinawoman.

As far as her name conveys to the average American, Hu King Eng might just as well be a man, but she isn't. Hu King is a remarkably little maid from the Celestial Empire, and more than that, she is the first woman of that heathen land to whom the degree of doctor of medicine has been granted.

Dr. Hu was born in Foochow, and in her babyhood she had every oriental luxury which a celestial baby could possibly cry for. Her grandfather was a mandarin of power and wealth, who late in his life became converted to Christianity and brought his grandchild up in that faith.

When she was old enough, little Hu King was sent away to a boarding school, but she never seemed to take any interest in smuggling caramels, going to matinees and other courses which school girls take. Instead, she prowled around in the dispensary connected with the institution, learning all she could about medicines and drugs. So marked was her thirst for medical lore that her father decided to make a physician of her.

After bitter opposition on the part of all her relatives, who said they would rather see her dead than a doctor, or whatever the title is in Chinese, Hu King came across the seas to this country. She matriculated at the Ohio Wesleyan University, and after four years of hard, persevering work was graduated with the degree of master of arts.

From Ohio, she went to Philadelphia, where she took a three years' course in the Woman's Medical College and a post-graduate course in the Philadelphia Polyclinic, from both of which institutions she received degrees. Then followed several months of practical work in the Woman's Hospital in Boston, and Dr. Hu, fully equipped for her life work, returned to Foochow and assumed charge of the Hu Hospital.

Her success has been remarkable. One instance is related of a coolie wheeling his blind old mother a thousand miles in a wheelbarrow to consult the woman doctor. A double cataract operation and the blind was made to see. The only son of a wealthy mandarin was dumb from his birth, and so of no account—disqualified to worship before the manes of his ancestors. The tied tongue was at once relieved, and the dumb was made to talk.

Adopted a Mastiff.

Mr. Kit Chinn, who is the eldest Colonel Jack Chinn's stalwart sons, and who is known in the racing world to be almost as expert a starter as his father, the Colonel, has on his breeding farm near town a huge Russian mastiff named Royal. The mastiff weighs fully two hundred pounds. Royal has been the constant companion of Mr. Chinn's thoroughbreds, and a strong friendship has grown up between dog and horses, but Mr. Chinn opened his eyes in astonishment when he discovered to what an abnormal length the friendship had been carried.

A servant had notified him that one of his mares had foaled a fine colt, and on strolling out to the paddock to see it he was greatly mystified to have two colts. On drawing nearer, however, he found that the report of the servant was correct, and what he had mistaken for a second colt was Royal, the Russian mastiff, who had been fully adopted by the mare. There before him stood the mare with her colt on one side and Royal on the other, both placidly taking their supper. Believing the adoption of the dog would be detrimental to the development of the colt by depriving it of its full supply of milk, Mr. Chinn gave orders that Royal should be kept away from the mare.

The mastiff was accordingly locked up, but the separation caused both mare and colt so great disquietude that it was thought best to release the dog, who straightway returned to his foster mother, and both by her and by his foster brother was received with manifestations of lively delight.—Harrodsburg (Ky.) A Clerical Story.

A good story of a clergyman and a cab driver comes from a little fishing village in the north of Scotland. The chapel of this queer and sparsely populated town depended entirely for its supply on the occasional help of the clergy in neighboring towns. It so happened that upon a very rainy Sunday a new clergyman from the town of S—— volunteered to conduct services in the little chapel, and in order to get there he engaged a vehicle which the English know as a "fly," in which, through the pouring rain, he was driven across the country to the chapel.

Upon his arrival he found no one at hand, not even a sexton to toll the bell to summon the natives, so he took it upon himself to pull the rope, leaving the cabby meanwhile outside in the wet. For a long time nobody arrived, but finally one solitary individual did appear and sat down in a pew nearest the door.

The clergyman then donned his surplice and began the service. When this was ended he observed that, inasmuch as there was but one member of the congregation, he thought it would be well to dispense with the sermon.

"Oh, no, sir. Please go one with the sermon."

When half way through he expressed the fear that perhaps he was tiring his listener, and was much gratified to learn from his own lips that such was not the case.

"I should be glad to listen to you for hours, sir," he said, and so the sermon ran on to an hour in length, and finally the service was concluded.

The preacher then expressed a desire to shake hands with so flattering an auditor. And then the trick came out—a trick which the clergyman's near sightedness had prevented him from seeing at once. His listener was none other than the driver of the fly, who was all the time charging him at so much an hour for the use of his vehicle.—New York Journal.

The Power of Actors.

The American play "Secret Service," which is now running in London, has been remarkably successful with the English audiences. One of the highest tributes to the play itself as well as to the acting was paid the other night when, in the scene where the hero throws away all chance of escape by informing the Confederate Sergeant in command of the squad about to execute him that the rifles had been tampered with, an excited individual in the gallery roared out: "You — fool!" This reminds a writer in the New York Telegram of a similar incident that occurred in this country years ago, which he describes as follows: "One of the audience at Wallack's theater during the regime of the famous stock company became greatly excited at a performance of "The Stranger," and as the climax was approached in the last act he was completely overcome by his feelings. In the farewell scene between the stranger and Mrs. Haller, when he determines that she shall not longer be dependent upon the bounty of others, offers her the papers securing her an independence, and she, humbly penitent, refuses the gift which would be a continual reproach to her, the spectator, in a voice tremulous with emotion, cried: "Take them, you fool, take them!" The effect was electric the audience was too deeply moved by the effect of the play to applaud, but a smile was seen playing on every face, Mr. Wallack and Mrs. Hoey and the other actors were for a moment slightly disconcerted, but at length proceeded with the scene."

WORDS OF WISDOM

Several Interesting Discourses Heard From the Pulpits Yesterday.

PAIN THE PRICE OF PLEASURE.

Rev. Davis Delivers a Timely Sermon to a Large Congregation.

DR. COYLE ON FASHION'S FAD.

Other Uplifting Addresses on a Variety of Subjects.

Rev. Edwards Davis preached to a large audience at the Central Christian Church on "The Passing of Time." This was the first of a series of sermons on popular themes.

Pastimes seem to be a pursuit of the people. We need not, however, seek to pass our time; time unaided will pass by. The incoming tide's advent is heralded by the breezes that ripple the surface of the sea and breaks the crests into a myriad of gems, and the ebbing tide can not be held by the beckoning of the hand of a babe. Time and tide waits for no man. The flight of time is as an arrow that leaves the string. Time when passed is irrevocable. The admonition that we walk in wisdom toward them that are without redeeming the time can be observed only in a measure by working the more expeditiously we can make up for the time that is lost. If after years have been wasted in laggardly wandering determination is made to set out on the chase of life, those who entered before have got advantage in life's handicap. It may be possible for one to enter the race at the eleventh hour and reach the goal before the gong strikes, but "the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong." Eccles 9 11.

In the paper chase of life the tattering steps of the debauchee whose delirious mind leads into every alluring vista whose unfulfilled promises of joy drive him back with a disappointed the broad way—such a one or such a course is seeking a pastime. The devotee of sensualism kneeling with lustful eyes before the gilded shrine of passion whose hypnotized eyes in... watching until the when drained by its past—but faces the types of the gaze stare at ugly realities and find in stead of a gilded throne occupied by a lustrous queen a ... hag ... whose loved ones by desertion have departed. The devotee will open his eyes gaze into an empty chair where a started ... The financier who with fingers counts and places ... on the chess board of chance after spending hours of profound concern about the move of a pawn advances ... and seemingly splendid gain ... taking a queen for a knight ... just figuring how the ... frame the word ... and ... the king of the ... the sword throws the figure-pieces of ... such is God's checkmate on ... whose God is gain. On the altar of pure religion at its shrine the home of the poor paying tribute to God by giving to the widow and the fatherless, sacrificing ... that others may be saved. Such a one is as selfish as ... who have lived for ... such a ... joy is in the ... but ... and would not ... with the debauchee or drunkard ... the device of lust or the gamester's chance. All these are in the pursuit of pleasure and their ... as ... in pastime.

This is not inconsistent in that pleasure is the intended purpose of life for it home society and nations exist. In our Declaration of Independence the pursuit of happiness is cited as one of the purposes of national existence. Our nation is pledged to permit this privilege. In fact upon its attainments depends the safety of the people. Happiness as selfish as it may seem to the social cynic or to the one whose dynamo of passion has burnt out happiness is a condition of contentment and content is the only warrant of peace. Without a nation makes pleasure possible it can not expect that men will be willing to bare their breasts to the blade of the battlefield to defend a country whose bitterness has not provided the possibility of joy. Patriotism is economic because it protects the State. Reverence is honored because it throws over the shrine ... illusion a veil that hides the vulgar and reveals the virtuous. Patriotism and reverence are cultivated that in saving our nation and our church each may protect and purify ourselves.

Every self is the center of a particle of the universe of life. As for me I live for pleasure. The highest pleasure possible and every sane man lives for the ... though ostensibly it his veracity has not been warped by cant not only ... but God exists for joy. The Deity enjoys the highest elation when He has given birth to joy. I fancy when His Divine Mind looks down from the thrown of the Infinite and sees humanity as countless as the stars of the sky or as the sands of the shore moves with marvelous emotion, or when men's woe-wrung souls will cut their anguish when pain penetrates their being, God knows the cause and knows the ultimate good. Thus through sublimely sympathetic He comprehends the laws, effects and the mighty mind with supreme satisfaction can see the afflicted spirit in the course of sadness that eventually its struggle will strengthen the soul so that the spirit will subdue the flesh. No comfort can come without cost. Pain is the price of pleasure. Impure ... contentious is the penalty of certain supposed pleasures. We should pass our time in accomplishing those things that are permanent. Men's breath might be well spent in blowing bubbles when by the ministration someone will be impressed with the similarity of the bubble to the empty life. But if this might be classed if when caught we find that we have been led into fairy and embowered with foliage and flowers. It is better to pass time than to let it pass us."

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED.

Rev. Glen McWilliams Tells of the Relations of Capital and Labor

At the First Christian Church last evening the Rev. Glen McWilliams delivered an interesting sermon on "The Army of Unemployed." In the course of his remarks he said:

A distinguished philanthropist, William T. Stead, wrote a book entitled "If Christ Came to Chicago." This book presents in ... facts that no honest man would attempt to deny. It shows the ... and injustice ... the ... against the army of the unemployed.

William T. Stead, a man of universal honor and noted for veracity, tells us that during the winter of 1893 it was not uncommon to find after nightfall at least two thousand homeless people crowded in the corridors and on the stairways of the City Hall building in Chicago. The ... was cold and keen, and ... the sleeping ... men was filled. Men preferred to stand in the warm, close, fetid atmosphere of the crowded building rather than freeze to death in the frost and snow outside. William T. Stead ... considering ... the hard cold stone floor on which they slept and the many other discomforts to which they were subject, they were singularly quiet. He declares that most of these two thousand men were hard working men honestly anxious to find work.

He says it was impossible to do more than sample this mass of human wretchedness. But he ... of ... with a band of students from the University subjected a hundred of this crowd of two thousand to searching analysis. Only ... to ... one hundred ... used to labor ... of these ten were selected at random. Only two had work ... for less than a dollar a day. Sixty-four had earned from one to two dollars a day and twenty had earned from two dollars to four dollars a day.

Fifty-nine were native born Americans, forty-one were foreigners. The most of them men were in the prime of life. Only one was below twenty and four were above fifty years of age.

A number of the men were well educated. One was a graduate of the University of Nebraska. The majority of these men had come to Chicago seeking work ... of them had it ...

I hold ... that of all the miserable ... of ... the world ... ... wore and finding ... the ... of the world.

That was eloquent ... the ... of Mrs. Browning's ... in blessing. But ... had ... they ... if they had ... would ... and shelter ... bids and gold gluttons. The ... who ... only ... hunting ... for employment while the ... of the ... the ... unfortunate wretches (many of them ... born Americans) were half frozen ... all the way ... enough ... with no place to lay their heads.

If they had been slaves they would have brought a million ... auction block. But is the land ... to ... from ... this great country which we call the bounteous ... land ... the ... of the world ... ship loads of ... bank ... and ... noblemen ... who ... for ... can come and breathe the air of liberty ... would give ... for ... on which ... could rest their weary and hungry, cold bones.

The inhumanity of Chicago's society to ... of the unemployed ... may be ... but the ... of ... in all our cities ... growing in every community every day we live.

The speaker then discussed at length on the relations of capital and labor showing how one affected the other and ... abuses daily apparent. Continuing, he said:

I ... it is the right of any labor organization to strike for higher wages if they believe that they are not justly compensated for their labor, ... the ... organization has no right to ... to other ... you ... in this strike you ... work at all.

The ... of our country must ... to ... extreme methods ... be ... sympathy which ... people have felt in this ... conflict.

With all the earnestness and sympathy ... believe ... that ... strong ... will never ... with ... firmly upon the ... of Jehovah Christ and His teachings ... the best and only ... for the problems ...

My friends, let us strive to calm the tempest of unbrotherly and unholy passions ... in the hearts of these contending factions. Let us come face to face and work and pray for God's assistance in the adjustment of these difficulties. I know of no better way to strengthen our brotherly love ... that the strong shall bear the burdens of the weak ... the rich and poor shall ... together in the blessedness of fraternal sympathy love and peace.

THE FADS OF RELIGION.

Rev. Robert Coyle Delivers a Sermon Full of Live Interest.

Dr. Robert F. Coyle preached on the fads of religion last evening under the name of "Side Tracks in Religion." The First Presbyterian Church was crowded with an interested audience. Dr. Coyle dwelt especially on Theosophy and Christian Science. In part he said:

Theosophy teaches the doctrine of re-incarnation. When you pass out of this life your soul, or ego, must live in some other body again. There is no help for it. If you die as John Smith you may re-appear as Susan Jones. The matter of sex is not arbitrary. In the re-incarnation the woman may be changed into a man and the man into a woman. The society belle may find herself re-incarnated in a boot-black. The bachelor who hates children may re-appear as the mother of a family. We do not know who we are in that last re-incarnation, we cannot tell what we shall be in the next and these changes are to go on indefinitely, or until the ego reaches a condition where it can recall all the past, then it enters into the All, sinks into the impersonal God as a bubble sinks into the sea. In other words the blotting out of separate existence is the goal of theosophy. And this is one of the side-tracks which some prefer to Christianity. A universe without a personal God, a universe in the grip of a pitiless fate, man passing through a long, long series of changes or re-incarnations, and reaching Nirvana, or nothingness at last.

Accept Christian Science and if consistent you must refuse to believe in a personal God and in individual consciousness and think yourself out of the notion that there are any such things as sin and death in the world. According to Christian Science you are not you, I am not I. Man is but an emanation from God, or if you please a part of God, one of the factors which go to make up God. Man is incapable of sin, sickness and death, because he is really God. A man is lame or crippled or cross-eyed or consumptive or bald headed only because he thinks he is. If any man feels that I am exaggerating let him turn to Mrs. Eddy's book and read for himself. This science sets itself against all the learning of the ages, against the Bible, against the Cross, against common sense. It is infinite absurdity to teach that no sun shines by day and that no moon rules by night, that all the things we see and all the pains we feel, are but fictions of the mind."

LAW AND JUSTICE.

Rev. Palmer Speaks of the Principles Taught in the Bible.

The Rev. S. S. Palmer of the Brooklyn Presbyterian Church spoke yesterday on "Justice." In the course of his remarks he said:

Men may assert their opinions contrary to God's word, but that does not make truth. The word of God standeth sure. Though every man should turn against it the faithfulness of God would not be changed. The ... place to place and as a last resort he says "I cannot be punished for my sin because it serves to show the justice of God." Then all judgment is at an end. How could God judge the world? Gentile would then be as free as the Jew.

How does the question now stand? Is there no refuge? As looked at from the divine side there is no exception to the non-righteousness of the race. He could see no one seeking after God. A negative attitude toward God is sin. The turning away from God is followed by spiritual blindness and moral degradation. The first step toward anything like freedom in wrong doing is to let go our hold on God."

Lectures of Music

The Rev. C. W. Wendte announces a course of musically illustrated lectures on "The Great Romantic Composers"—Von Weber, Schubert, Schumann, Chopin, Rossini (in place of Mendelssohn, already given) and Wagner. They will resemble in general features the course on the classical composers which drew such large audiences some years ago, but being given on week-nights will permit a wider selection of music. Many eminent artists have already been secured and a male quartette and mixed chorus.

The musical director will be Professor D. P. Hughes. Preliminary programmes and course tickets will soon be issued. The course will begin on or about September 17th and extend into November.

Injured in an Elevator.

Mrs. John F. Ames, a former resident of this city, but now in Portland, met with a serious injury recently. She is stopping at the Hotel Portland with her husband and little son Mortimer. The little boy entered the elevator cage during the temporary absence of the elevator man and moved the lever causing it to start downwards. Mrs. Ames rushed to the rescue of her son and succeeded in getting into the elevator before it had descended very far. In reversing the elevator, she was caught between the apparatus and the shaft and badly injured her right leg. No bones were broken but she will be forced to go on crutches for some time.

HEALTH OFFICER'S CAMPAIGN.

Gossip Around the University Campus and in Classrooms.

NEWS NOTES FROM ALAMEDA.

Attractive Booths and Some Unique Features of the Fete

BERKELEY, Aug. 23.—Health Officer H. D. Rowell is starting on a vigorous campaign against diseased meat. He has discovered that twelve tuberculous cattle have been sent to Berkeley from some place back of Oakland and have been killed and the meat sold to retail dealers.

This is dangerous if not more dangerous than selling the milk, and Health Officer Rowell, who was one of the pioneer milk testers in the country, has taken to watching what became of the condemned cattle. As a result he now says that he has discovered that a herd of twelve tuberculous cows, all of which had been condemned as unfit to be used as milk givers, has been sold to meat dealers in Berkeley and he is trying to locate the buyer of them.

The Sophmores of the University Saturday night attempted to steal the refreshments at the freshman reception in Stiles Hall. Marshal Richard Lloyd dispersed the crowd that had gathered to seize the edibles and the threatened attack was averted. Later the sophs unharnessed the horse of the confectioner and scattered the harness about the campus.

Lloyd Osbourne, step son and collaborator of Robert Louis Stevenson, is living in Berkeley. He has just come to the college town with his wife and child, and has taken a house on Channing Way. Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson is expected to arrive from Samoa soon. She will join her son in Berkeley. The family is planning a journey through Europe of indefinite duration. It is probable that they will never again make their home in the South Seas, though they may visit Samoa again.

Instructor Bernard Maybeck of the University of California is pursuing special studies at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, of which he is a graduate. His object is to better prepare himself for his work toward securing permanent plans for the buildings and grounds at Berkeley.

The Students' Congress has appointed Monney, '00, C. E. Thomas, '00, Mannon, '00, Simpson, '98, and Buford, '98, a committee on Reorganization.

The following officers of the Berkeley Brass Band have been elected: President, June Irvin; secretary, K. Stuart; treasurer, Jacob Kiees.

The Rev. J. A. Cruzan, the newly elected pastor of the North Berkeley Church, preached before his new congregation for the first time yesterday.

John Paader of Lorin had a two and a half inch silver vise placed in his right leg to patch up the damage done by a kick from a wild horse. The blow crushed his leg midway between the knee and ankle, and two and a half inches of splintered bone were removed by physicians and strong silver wire riveted to the broken bones to support the limb. It will be months before Paader will be able to be up and around again.

COLUMBUS BUGGY COMPANY RESUMES OPERATIONS.

Three Hundred Men Take Up Their Daily Work, With Many More to Follow.

Great Whistle Sounded a Joyous Recall to Labor After an Enforced Illness

Joy and gladness, hope and prosperity were mingled in the tones of the great whistle on the immense factories of the Columbus Buggy Company as it sounded this morning a recall to work for the hundreds of employes who have been in enforced illness. This great whistle has been silent so long that when it was blown this morning remembrances of the greatness of the Columbus Buggy Company were recalled and it was the fond wish of all who heard it that it was an indication that before many weeks the great factories will again be working to the fullest capacity.

With the resumption of work this morning Mr. Clinton D. Firestone, the only surviving partner of the great concern started in to place the Columbus Buggy Company on the high plane it held before the late combination of circumstances which resulted in the ... It is significant ... that Mr. Firestone is at the head of the great concern since it was he who ... the crowning success of the company in its palmiest days. When it is known throughout the length and breadth of the country that the concern ... hands confidence in the concern will be restored ...

Three hundred men went to work this morning and as soon as the ... can be put in shape others will be added, it being the intention of Mr. Firestone to put back all of the old force of ... men as soon as ... possible ... for the past few weeks ... 200 men have been at work in the shop but that number was greatly increased this morning. The various shops ... open ... good ... many ... when the Columbus Buggy Company was the greatest and most widely advertised institution in the Capital City.

The older members of the party bagged nothing in the shape of game larger than a jack rabbit.

Chester Langan, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Langan, last Sunday afternoon lost the fore finger of his left hand while working with a chopping machine.

In some manner Chester's finger got under the sharp blade and that portion between the first and second joints was completely severed, rolling off into the feed box below. Phil, his brother, picked it up and attempted to replace it at the same time calling to his mother. The doctor stitched the member and it is believed that the finger will be all right.

The Oak Knoll pumping plant is being thoroughly overhauled by B. W. Dutcher, the plumber. The water supply has been insufficient to meet the demands for sprinkling and Mr. Dutcher is sinking the well to a greater depth, and he believes after his work is completed the pump will steadily lift two thousand gallons an hour.

Two carloads of manganese of twenty tons each, were shipped this week to Livermore from Corral Hollow via Tracy. Lorin Phillips is superintending the work of grinding the manganese. There are several orders on hand from Eastern iron works for the Livermore metal, and mining promises to be lively from now on. Representatives of Carnegie and the Eastern manufactures have looked the ground over and are negotiating for the purchase of manganese land. In the event of a sale they propose shipping metal from here in its crude state.

George Cropsy met with a runaway accident the first of the week that resulted disastrously. While crossing the Mason bridge his four-horse team became frightened and ran away. The heavy wagon was upset and Mr. Cropsy fell in such a manner as to break his leg.

HAYWARDS.

(From the Haywards Journal.)

Our farmers are naturally feeling good over the boom in the price of cereals, and good times are apparent on every hand. The boom in the hay market still continues, the choicest article freely selling at $15 per ton, and medium from $10 to $12. A lot of the old hay is going off like hot cakes; and everything will be cleaned up by next year. In regard to wheat, now crowding the $1.60 mark, those well posted predict it will go to two cents.

A peculiar robbery happened in the Austin Hotel building when a purse was stolen from a lady working at the cannery, containing $9. It is said that a woman dressed in black was seen to come out of the hotel shortly afterwards, and it is believed that she is the same clever person who has been robbing residences in Oakland.

Meek Brothers Wednesday put in use the first dipper and pricker as well as grader for drying prunes. It works most satisfactorily and many orchardists were present to see it work. This station has been one of the heaviest shipping points in the interior this summer, and Station Agent Sederberg still retains two athletic assistants. Mohr Brothers' threshing outfit and traction engine passed through town Wednesday bound for Mt. Eden. The outfit had just finished up the season on their ranch near Pleasanton. The traction engine pushed along at a good speed over the roads and attracted quite a crowd.

The Livermore train now leaves San Francisco at two in the afternoon instead of one o'clock and goes through to Tracy and connects with the train for Hanford, Visalia, etc. The one o'clock train is now a Niles local, and connects with the train for San Jose.

The dried fruit market is most active, and there is no trouble to dispose of fruit at very satisfactory prices. This is in most striking contrast to the situation a year ago, and shows that business is picking up all along the line.

The public library and reading room had a number of papers, magazines and books added last week. It is being well patronized. The trustees well feel gratified over the growth of the library, in particular, for, after their "round up" last week they counted the books Thursday and found that they had 1,40[illegible] volumes, and a great many more have been promised by the people. These will be collected by next week, when the trustees expect to purchase at least 400 new books.

It is daily illustrated that the track of the electric road is just high enough above the grade of Castro street to cause many accidents, especially if a driver attempts to cross at an angle. The street also needs grading badly.

Burglars entered the residence of William Mann on the corner of Second and East streets, Tuesday evening, by the back window, and carried outside two pair of pantaloons belonging to the owner, from which they took about ten dollars carrying off a gold watch and chain.

The resignation was accepted and will take effect in one month. The relations between Mr. Bayley and the church have been most amicable and friendly and they regret his departure.

W. W. Ashford returned from a visit to his big ranch in Colusa County on Monday. He has over 3,000 sacks of wheat, that is now worth about $1.60, but Mr. Ashford is not in a hurry to sell. He brought down some samples that show a fine quality of wheat.

R. Reid and J. C. Crooks will represent Haywards in the tennis tournament to be held at Monterey September 7th. The tournament is open to the Pacific Coast. The representatives will at once go into active training for the battle.

One of the main features of the hop yard is the Indian settlement just below the main camping grounds. The creek bank is bordered with many oddly-constructed huts, made principally of willow and dried grass. Here the papooses and their swarthy parents live a happy life, sharing few of the troubles of their pale face brothers to the right.

Jack Stevens, a well known and popular young man of town, will be a candidate for Marshal.

Hop picking will begin in a few days. The rush of campers has already started and down by the kilns is a regular city. The abodes are built of everything imaginable—from an up-to-date canvass tent to a dry goods box. Some of the temporary dwellings are ingenious affairs, and attractive as well. There is a house built of bull rushes that has attracted much attention.

The Pleasanton Company has over 400 acres in hops this year, which is the largest hop field under one control in the world. From $25,000 to $30,000 is expended on it annually before a hop is picked. The first of the Pleasanton crop of sugar beets will be shipped next Monday. R. C. Peach, the Alameda Sugar Company's agent, is making semi-weekly trips among the beet growers, taking samples from their respective crops. The trouble with us nowadays is, that we do not lead natural lives. The feminine portion of our society is especially culpable in this way. It is really a wonder that women are as healthy as they are. Very few women get any outdoor exercise. Very many get no exercise at all. Modes of dressing interfere with the proper muscular action and with the circulation of the blood. All the hygienic laws are broken. It is little wonder that nine women in ten are troubled with some derangement or irregularity in the action of the organs distinctly feminine. Neglect and wrong living will show themselves first in the most delicate organs of the whole body. With such weakness and sickness so prevalent, it is to be expected that the bearing of children would be fraught with dread and danger. It should not be so, of course. Nature never meant it to be so. The performance of the highest function of which a woman is capable should not be accompanied by pain. If perfectly natural living were the rule, it would not be so. As lives are lived, something else must be done. A remedy must be found. For over thirty years, Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During that time he has treated thousands of women. He has found in his "Favorite Prescription" a never-failing specific for female complaints. It strengthens the whole body and when taken during gestation, shortens the period of labor and makes childbirth well-nigh painless. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child.

RELIGION ENTERS AND LOVE DEPARTS.

The Trials of a Salvation Lassie After Joining the Army.

Her Altogether Too Attentive Lover Will Now Go to Jail.

Mary J. Alles, a Salvation Army lassie, has sworn to a warrant charging Louis J. Miller, who resides at 1011 Brush street, with disturbing her peace.

The woman lives at 1018 Twelfth street. In former times she says she and Miller were quite friendly and the friendship ripened into something deeper on Miller's part. She confesses that she was beginning to look upon him as something more than a friend when a few months ago she became converted and decided to devote her future life to saving souls.

With that end in view she donned the uniform of the Salvation Army and gave up all thoughts of Miller.

The young man was not so easily shaken, however. According to the woman he has annoyed her more or less ever since.

She made no complaint, thinking that his annoyance was a part of the cross she was to bear, but last Saturday night Miller became bolder than usual and attempted to force his way into her house.

After a desperate struggle she succeeded in ejecting him and this morning, accompanied by a Salvation Army captain, she called upon Prosecuting Attorney M[illegible] and swore to a complaint charging Miller with disturbing her peace.

Miller has not yet been arrested.

WILL RUN THREE BOATS AN HOUR.

No More Weary Waits on the Broad-Gauge Local System.

Carrying Out of the Plan Detailed in "The Tribune" Weeks Ago.

As announced exclusively in the Tribune several weeks ago, the Southern Pacific Company is now ready to run broad gauge boats every twenty minutes. The date of the commencement of the new service is not yet definitely announced but is is understood to be about September 1st.

To carry out the new plan, the steamer Encinal has been enlarged and remodeled and has cost a small fortune. She has just come off the ways at West Oakland, practically a new boat. The Encinal has been lengthened at both ends, has been rebuilt from the guards up, her cabins have been remodeled and refurnished and a complete electric light plant has been put in to take the place of the [illegible] lamps that have made the darkness visible for years.

The necessary arrangements have been made. The [illegible] and the Encinal Piedmont and Oakland will all be placed on the broad gauge route.

The Piedmont will probably leave on the hour, the Encinal twenty minutes after and [illegible] twenty minutes before the hour.

The new service will prove a great boon to travelers who have been accustomed to wait half an hour for the trains.

THE RISE CHECKED

Another Sensational Day in the Wheat Pits of the World.

PRICES TAKE A SMALL TUMBLE.

For a Time the Bulls Were at the Mercy of the Bears.

HIGH FIGURES AGAIN REACHED.

The Markets Are Much Disturbed and Everywhere Is Uncertainty.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO Aug. 23.—The first curb quotation for September wheat today was 102½, an advance of 3½ cents over Saturday's close. At the same time, 333-8 was bid for September corn, 2 cents over Saturday's close December wheat sold between 101¼ and 100½, while 35¾ was bid for December corn.

The news all pointed to an exceedingly lively day's session in all the grain pits. Liverpool's opening wheat advance this morning was equal to 5½ cents per bushel. Saturday's advance was 7 cents per bushel. The Liverpool advance in corn, equal to 2 2-5@3 1-3 cents per bushel, was considerably over the local advance, however. A noteworthy fact was that of the world's wheat shipments last week, 7,210,000 bushels, about five-sevenths or 5,248,000 bushels being contributed by America. The usual Monday morning crop reports were almost uniformly bad. Especially was this true of corn Weather reports showed slightly higher temperatures west. The 1:30 P. M. Liverpool cables showed a recession of 1 penny in some wheat futures and in the curb price for September. Wheat here dropped to 100½.

All the buoyancy was out of wheat when the opening bell rang on the regular board. The highest price touched in the initial trading was 99½ for September, the exact quotation at which the market closed Saturday. Simultaneous sales at the opening were all the way down a cent lower to 98½ for September and in a few minutes later sales were being recorded at 97 and even at 96 1½. Enormous quantities of wheat were for sale from every direction. It was hard to sell, buyers being relatively very scare Harris, Counselman and Lindblom were particularly conspicuous sellers. It looks as if many holders were availing themselves of the excitement to realize profits by selling.

The lowest point reached was 96 for September, a plunget of 7½ from the high point on the curb. Corn sympathized with the slump in wheat and the first regular trading was at 33 and all the way down to 32 for September as compared with 33 3-8 on the curb.

After the opening rush to sell, there was some recovery and at 10 A. M September wheat was back to 98 and September corn to 32 3-8 So much September what was sold that it looked as if the bull crowd had distributed orders.

People found it so hard to sell the September option that they turned around and sold December as a hedge.

The bull crowd took up the market again after the first 30 minutes and the continued strength at Liverpool had a steadying influence. Gradually the price worked up to 99½ for September and fluctuated between that price and 98. People were satisfied now to trade in ordinary 5,000 bushel lots. The break in wheat, the milder weather and the big receipts checked the corn market. Armour, Smith and Bartlett-Fraser were large sellers of corn.

Around 11 o'clock a tendency to sag was becoming quite noticeable, and at 11.15 the price for September wheat was 97½, or two cents under the top figures reached on the rally after the break at the opening. Corn fell away ½c to 31 7-8 for September.

GOOD CROP REPORTS RECEIVED IN LONDON.

France Will Not Reduce the Import Tax on Wheat and Flour.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Aug 23.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the grain situation, says:

"The wheat harvest is about half over, and the reports continue to be fairly favorable, in spite of interruptions of many heavy showers and the delay in carrying the wheat cut. The foreign harvests are unfavorably reported. The latest advices from France, Austro-Hungary, Russia and Roumania are all more or less unfavorable."

A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Paris, printed this afternoon, says that there will be no reduction in the tax on imported wheat and flour. The reply of the Government to the representations on the subject says the temporary scarcity of wheat in the French market is owing to the bad harvest, and that so soon as the American and Australian wheats arrive at French ports the situation will right itself.

Continuing, the correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette telegraphs: "The Government, especially now that the elections are drawing near, is mortally afraid of offending the small peasant, who usually grows wheat. On the other hand, the working classes, who constitute the mass of the population in the large towns, still live largely on bread."

NEW YORK WHEAT TAKES A TUMBLE.

An Anxiety to Sell Even Though the Prices May Go Much Higher.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Wheat had another sensational opening today, but less one sided than of late. Bulls were startled to find heavy selling orders from foreign and other sources which broke prices during the first half hour about four cents a bushel from the highest curb price of Saturday. December opened at 104, broke to 101¼ under vigorous selling pressure, and then rebounded violently to 103½, later weakening to 103⅝. Liverpool cables were exceedingly strong at 1¾d over Saturday. The French markets were disappointing.

The feeling was felt in many quarters that it was time to get profits on wheat, even though it might eventually rush through to 125. Corn was very active over a wide range of prices. September opened 1¾ higher at 38, but later fell to 37 with a break in wheat.

PRICE OF FLOUR IS RAISED IN PARIS.

Socialists Attempt to Do Politics on the Strength of Wheat Excitement.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PARIS, August 23.—Flour rose fifty centimes a sack at Marseilles on Saturday and a further rise is expected, though the impending arrivals from New York and Buenos Ayres are expected to check the rise.

The agitation for the abolition of the duties on grain is spreading rapidly and at Tarbes, Rodes and Cette there is much excitement on the subject. The Figaro expresses the belief that the raise will not last long as no scarcity is feared, adding that the socialists will not succeed in the alarmist campaign which they are alleged to have sprung for a political purpose. The Justice declares the price of bread has no relation to the present price of wheat.

PLENTY OF ARGENTINE GRAIN

M'NEAR MAKES A FORTUNE IN WHEAT.

The High Values Naturally Assist the Farmers to Raise Their Mortgages.

The effect of the good prices being attained for wheat is being felt locally. Already some of the banks have released mortgages that have been held for years and last week's figures show that more mortgages were released than for the corresponding period in many years.

G. W. McNear has reaped a rich harvest. His firm are unquestionably the heaviest operators of the season.

Ever since its commencement they have been purchasers on the theory that the price of wheat would go to high figures The amount of grain which they have contracted to take is enormous, as is evidenced by the fact that they have engaged fully thirty warehoses in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys to store their purchases and are already shipping abroad. How much they have cleaned up or how much more they will add to their bank account should the present figures be maintained or advance, it is impossible to estimate, but it must be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Other large shippers are Balfour, Guthrie & Company and Girvin & Eyre, who have made profitable purchases for their clients and possibly for themselves.

Harry Bolte, a Groom of but Two Months, Leaves His Bride.

Harry Bolte of San Francisco, a native of Germany and Dorothea Koop, of Stalten, Germany, were married by Justice Clift June 20th, in the presence of Alice and E H. Lincoln of Oakland. It has now transpired that both the groom and the marriage license, which was issued by County Clerk Jordan March 8th, 1897, are missing, much to the consternation of the bride.

A young man called at the County Recorder's office Friday and enquired whether the document had been duly recorded. He was informed that it was, much to his surprise. It was not in the possession of the Justice.

The young man said that Bolte had disappeared two weeks after the wedding. The bride, to protect her name, wished to know if the ceremony had been recorded.

The County Clerk prepared an affidavit citing the issuance of the license. A certified copy of the entry on the docket was also furnished by Justice Clift.

RETURNED FROM THEIR HONEYMOON.

While Away S. M. Shortridge Won a Very Important Case in the South.

Samuel M. Shortridge and his bride have returned from their honeymoon, and are staying at the Palace Hotel. They had a very enjoyable trip, and Mr. Shirtridge's lucky star evidently accompanied him on his wedding tour, for while in Southern California he won a very important suit involving $1,000,000. Stephen M. White and other legal lights were arrayed against him, while associated with him was Jefferson Chandler, the Washington attorney who figured in th Blythe case.

The suit won by Mr. Shortridge was the Golden Cross Mining and Milling Company against Hinckley, Spiers & Hays and others. The property belonged to W. D. Hedges, and was about to be sold by the trustees to pay some small debts, when the property is in reality worth $1,500,000. In speaking of the matter, Mr. Shortridge said: "It was a regular wrecking job; just as Jay Gould might have wrecked a railroad. I told them in court what they were. Of course, not all the creditors were interested in the work. There were those who only wanted their money, but there were others who wanted to see the property sold, and they would have bought it in for a song. But we blocked their scheme. On July 8th we had a receiver appointed and an injunction issued restraining the trustees from selling the property or working it. Both have been made permanent and all we have to do is to pay off the indebtedness on the mine, which we can do from the output of the mine if given a little time."

The Remains Unidentified.

The remains of the man found on the shore of Bay Farm Island by Frank Silva yesterday morning have not yet been identified.

The body is in such an advanced state of decomposition that identification will be extremely difficult. The man was evidently between 30 and 40 years of age. He had very thick black hair, and wore a black sack coat and blue overalls. He was evidently a laboring or seafaring man.

The remains are at the Alameda morgue.

STRIKERS CONFER

It Is Probable That the Trouble May Be Adjusted Today.

THE MINERS MAY WIN OUT.

Operators Anxious to Agree to the Terms Demanded by Workmen.

NO TROUBLE IN MICHIGAN.

Miners There Pay No Attention to the Addresses of Agitators.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—The conference between the miners officials and the executive committee of the coal operators met at 11 o'clock this morning. The miners were represented by National President Ratchford, District President Dolan and Secretary Warner. The operators' committee was composed of J. C. Dysart, G. W. Schluidenberg, J. N. O'Neil and J. B. Zerbe, F. M. Osborne, U. A. Andrews, W P. Bonney and W. P. Rend.

President Ratchford in an interview said he wanted it distinctly understood that he had never been asked by the operators to confer with them.

"The statement," said he, "that I had refused a conference is not correct. I am here now at the request of Mr. Dolan. we will only agree to the operators' proposition if they will pay 69 cents. That is the lowest rate the miners will accept. It must be 69 cents, or the strike will be continued until the demand is granted. If the Pittsburg operators settle upon our terms, a general conference will not be necessary."

A large number of operators had congregated in the corridors of the Monongahela House. There was much dissatisfaction among them. Many were opposed to breaking the strike by importing men, and quite a large number urged the acceptance of the miners' terms. It was claimed that it was not the Pittsburg operators who wanted to compromise or break the strike, but that it was the large mine owners and lake shippers. The conference ended at noon, after an agreement had been made for a general conference of operators and miners' officials at 2 o'clock this afternoon The miner's officials insisted on all the operators being present, and it was decided to make the conference an open one.

The operators, who had been kept on the outside, were jubilant when this decision was arrived at. Some said they would favor the granting of the 69 cent rate at the opening of the conference, if it was seen that the miners' officials would not consent to a compromise to let out the operators who have contracts based on a 51 cent mining rate.

AGITATORS HAVE NO EFFECT IN MICHIGAN.

Harmony Prevails Between Union and Non-Union Men and Employers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Aug. 23.—There will be no strike of miners. Speeches by the labor leaders yesterday did not have the desired effect, and all the mines are working this morning. The attempt to force non-union men out proved a failure. The companies will discriminate against union men if the latter interfere with those who do not belong to the union. There is no ill feeling and there will be no strike. There is no trouble at Negaunee.

Attorney's Fees.

The motion of attorney Scrivener for an increase in counsel fees in the case of Mamie Bacon vs. F. C. Bacon was argued before Judge Ellsworth this morning. The attorneys for the defendant took exception.

TO RENUMBER THE HOUSES

The Superintendent of Streets Has a Place in View.

The Matter Will Be Submitted to the Different Business Organizations.

Superintendent of Streets Miller is at work on an ordinance to re-number the houses of the city. The matter has been considered by him for some time, but he has been awaiting the outcome of the annexation question.

Mr. Miller states that he will do nothing in the matter until he has talked it over with the Merchants' Exchange, Board of Trade and the various improvement clubs. If it seems to be the will of the people that the houses should be re-numbered, the ordinance will be introduced in the Council, if not, nothing will be done in the matter.

The proposition is to number the houses in accordance with the number of the streets On streets running from north to south, the numbers will be so arranged that but 100 numbers shall be in a block. From First to second streets, the numbers will be from 100 to 200, from Second to Third, the numbers will be from 200 to 300, and so on, as is the case in most large cities.

As the matter now stands, it is difficult to find a house by the number. Houses on streets running east and west from Lake Merritt to the bay will not be changed.

The reason of the change is that as the city becomes larger the confusion becomes greater, and as the change must come sometime, Mr. Miller says it might as well be done at once. A systematic numbering of houses, he says, would be beneficial in more ways than one.

TRIED TO DIE TO HIDE HER SHAME.

Pretty Ada Frierson Takes Poison Because She Was Deceived.

The Mother Says the Girl Is Not In Her Right Mind.

An attractive young Oakland girl by the name of Ada Frierson attempted to commit suicide last night in the Yukon saloon, 25 Turk street, San Francisco. She lives in this city at 811 Filbert street with her mother.

She alleges that Edward Comyns, the proprietor, has betrayed and deserted her.

She went into the saloon and ordered a glass of sherry, emptied some pennyroyal into i tand drained the glass. She was soon unconscious, and was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where antidoes were administered When questioned as to her motives after having regained consciousness, she said that about five weeks ago Comyns drugged and ruined her. She declared that she was engaged to a young man by the name of Robert Wilcox, the son of a wealthy hardware merchant in Fairmount, Minn. She wrote a letter to her mother saying that her disgrace drove her to the mad act and begging forgiveness.

In her purse a card bore the following note:

"Dear Eddy: You will not be blamed. Although I blame you, I do not wish others to. Hope you will do better."

"Eddy" refers to Edward Comyns," the proprietor of the saloon.

A Tribune representative saw the mother this morning. "The girl was not in her right mind when she wrote that letter," said the mother. "The whole story is a trumped up affair. I make absolute denial of the whole story."

Mrs. Frierson feels her daughter's misfortune keenly. One of the sisters of the girl went to San Francisco this morning to ascertain how serious the unfortunate girl's condition is.

ATTACKING GREATER OAKLAND.

Fitzgerald & Abbott have about finished the petition for the purpose of contesting the legality of the annexation to Oakland of Temescal, Piedmont and other sections north of the city. It is likely that the document will be filed about the middle of the week.

It is understood that a point which is not claimed to be either new or original, will be raised in the petition and that is as regards the possibility of so apportioning the annexed district as to enable the residents to vote under the provisions of the charter.

The charter requires that the city shall be redistricted every ten years and that in the redistricting the wards shall be so divided that they will have as nearly as possible the same number of voters.

There is no provision in it setting forth how annexed districts shall be apportioned so as to equalize the total ward vote. As a consequence, as the matter stands now, the annexed district is looked upon as a part of the Second ward. As a consequence, that ward is entirely out of proportion with the other wards of the city, both with respect to population and the extent of territory.

there is no provision in the law to enable the residents in the annexed district to vote and it is held that such is a hardship not contemplated by law and yet one for which the charter makes no provision for advocating.

A BUSY SESSION.

The County Supervisors Settle Many Matters of Interest.

The Board of Supervisors met this considered the advisability of partially reopenig the old Catholic cemetery at Mission San Jose.

Attorney J. J. Scrivner was present to represent the contestants and J. F. Coffaney to argue for those who were desirous of opening the cemetery.

Chas C. McIver sent the following letter to the Board:

"Your communication in reference to the renewal of burials in the old church cemetery in this town calls for an urgent protest from me, as I consider such a course, if adopted, would be a serious menace to the health of all our citizens. I cannot believe that our Board of Supervisors will allow such an injustice to be perpetrated on us. The land for the new burial ground was kindly donated by Juan Gallegos, and has proved satisfactory up to now, as it is removed sufficiently far from the town to make it, in a sanitary measure, safe. That some few parties should be interested through a pecuniary reason for having this change allowed should be earnestly considered by the Board, and I trust they will not allow it to take place. The old cemetery was over-crowded with bodies many years ago."

A. J. Salzer also sent in a long communication relative to the matter. He affirmed that only the following had any legal claim to the lots: Richard Burns, John Amaral, Eugenia de Gloria Feria, Mrs. Dumigan, Pat Donohue, Mrs. G. Norris, Mrs. Charles Beg, Maurice A. Lavareg, Mrs. J. Harlin, Mrs. T. Costello, Mr Madden, Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs M Glannon, P. Costello, Mrs R. Appel, Mrs. Susan Rose, Mrs Cassidy, J. F Coffaney, Ed Ryan, Martin Orez Anecocehea, T. Higuera, Murphy, Mrs. Doherty, M. Landerer.

The communication further stated:

"Owing to the other petitioners having lost all marks on their plots and consequently all accurate identity of the same, and to the deplorable manner in which the clergy of this parish have conducted thi smatter, not keeping any records of the locality of lots sold, only issuing receipts for amount paid for eachlotandsize thereof and in consequence of the over-crowded condition of said cemetery and the opinion of the health officers of the district, condemning the continuance of burials in said cemetery as well as to prevent the desecration of graves, we respectfully ask you not to allow any other burials, but those above stated, to take place in the said cemetery.

"Archbishop Riordan has promised that he will deed equal plots in the new cemetery to any one who will present proper claims in the old and not included in the list on account of having lost marks on their plots and will send a written order to that effect."

VETERANS ASSEMBLE

Thousands Flock to the Grand Army Encampment at Buffalo.

DELEGATIONS ON PARADE.

Efforts Being Made to Harmonize the Two Women's Sections.

LITTLE HOPE OF AGREEMENT.

For a Whole Week the Defenders of the Nation Will Convene.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug 23.—Grand Army week opened with fair weather. All indications point to a colossal encampment, beyond the expectation of the most sanguine citizen. Train loads of veterans and their friends are constantly arriving and a person might think there was a great parade in progress as the posts march up the main street to their quarters. This morning the women's headquarters were formally opened. Here the visitors will be looked after. Everything possible has been provided for their comfort.

Thaddeus S. Clarkson, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army arrived today. He was met at the station by local G. A. R. men and the local reception committee and escorted to the Iroquois Hotel where he was officially received by Colonel Winans, Chief of the Headquarters' Staff.

Among the G. A. R. posts which have arrived are the following: Naval Post Department, Pennsylvania; Farragut Association, United States Grand Army Post and Burley Posts, all of Philadelphia; Welsh Post, Columbia, Pennsylvania; Departments of Tennessee and Georgia; George A. Andrew Post of Boston; Rankin Post of Brooklyn, New York; LaFayette Post of New York; Harding Post of St. Louis; Tod Post of Youngstown, Ohio, and the New Hampshire delegation, which is pushing the candidacy of John C. Linnehan of Concord, New Hampshire, for Commander-in-Chief.

Rear Admiral Cyrus Sears arrived last night and will hoist the flag on the steamer Idaho. The Idaho has been assigned to the Naval veterans.

During the week an effort will be made to unite the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. There has been a good deal of discussion over a possible union, but it is the desire of the Grand Army that the tenets of the Woman's Relief Corps prevails as to the eligibility clause and the ladies of the G. A. R. do not want to give up on that point, so that the matter of a union seems as far away as when the two organization took to different paths.

"To cherish and emulate the deeds of our noble army nurses and of all loyal women who rendered loving service to our country in her hour of peril" is the aim of the Woman's Relief Corps.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. accept only the "wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of honorably discharged soldiers" and reject the "loyal" women who had no relatives in the war to whom they can trace relationship.

The programme today includes the opening at Camp Jewett at four o'clock, a civic parade this evening and a reception this evening to Commander in Chief Clarkson.

Fought at a Picnic.

A fight at a picnic in Temescal Park yesterday resulted in the arrest of W. J. Vanverkaay, a San Francisco photographer, and B. D. E. Konig, an employe of the Contra Costa Laundry. Both men were badly used up. They were arrested on complaint of a man named Schweitchler, who charged them with attacking him. They will be tried on a charge of battery tomorrow.

SPED TO DISASTER

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 22.—An Eastbound extra freight train on the Lake Erie & Western Railroad crashed into an excursion train on the Detroit & Lima Northern at the junction of the crossing two miles from this city at 10.40 Friday night. The engine and three cars of the freight train and two of the passenger coaches were wrecked and fully forty passengers were injured, several fatally.

The excursion was run by the People's Tea Store of this city to Toledo and return and most of the passengers were residents of Lima. There is no target at the junction and the accident resulted from the failure of the freight crew to stop their train. The excursion consisted of an engine and six coaches.

The freight engine struck near the rear of the rear coach and turned it up side down in the ditch. The last car was derailed, badly wrecked and turned partly over. Those fatally injured are:

It was midnight before the news was received. All the ambulances and hacks were called out and the excursionists were removed to their homes or the homes of friends. An engine and one coach were used and the passengers who were not so seriously injured were brought to the Dayton Northern depot in the city about one o'clock this morning.

Several passengers were pinioned in the debris of the cars and the trainmen had to cut the timbers away with axes to release them.

A MINER'S EXPERIENCE.

Ed. Thorp Tells Contradictory Stories About His Wealth.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 22.—The steamer George E. Starr arrived at her dock yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock, from Dyea and Skaguay, and was met by a great crowd of people; it having been reported that several men from Clondyke, having made their way to salt water overland, were on board. This report proved true, but the interest centered in the appearance of one passenger, Ed Thorp, who was expected to come down on the Portland, and who is reported to have $130,000 in Clondyke gold in his possession.

Willis Thorpe, the father of Ed Thorpe, is said to have received a letter a few days ago on the Alki from his son saying that he had $130,000 in gold. Now Thorp and his three companions on the Starr unite only on one point in telling their story and that is that they have $20,000 between them.

Four on the steamer are direct from Dawson. They are Geo. L. Stewart, Ed Thorp, Joe Winterfield and Jack Ross, and their Indian guide Schwatka.

Stewart went to Yukon in July, 1896, and located a claim on Eldorado creek, a branch of Bonanza creek, and about sixteen miles from Dawson. When the party left Dawson City July 4th nothing had been heard of the discoveries on the Stewart river.

It is the intention of the party to return to their mines at once on the next trip of the steamer George E. Starr if they can get ready. They all came out after supplies. Mr. Stewart said supplies run short in the spring, and that flour went up to $70 per sack. At present it is $12 per cwt.

Old miners on the Yukon say that the transportation company promises every year to have plenty of provisions for the next winter, but that the supply invariably runs short.

The undersigned, after seven years' suffering, without being able to obtain any relief resolved to see Dr. Woong, but I did not obtain any help. I then determined to see Dr. Tom She Bin, and in three months I was completely cured. I commenced feeling better soon after commencing his treatment, and I was all cured.

MRS. JENNIE SAUNDERS,
1016 West 7th st., Los Angeles, Cal.

This is to certify that Dr Tom She Bin has cured me of that dreadful disease known as heart disease, and also of weak lungs. I do make this deposition for the especial benefit of those suffering similar ailments I must say that I was treated by the best doctor in Chicago, and after I lost all hopes I concluded to come to San Francisco for a change of climate, and immediately I heard of the wonderful cures of Dr. Tom She Bin, so I consulted him, with such good luck that after one month and a half from the time he started to treat my case I felt entirely well.

MRS. E. FRENCH,
409 Thomas Street, Chicago, Ill.

I, the undersigned, do recommend Dr Tom She Bin as one of the best doctors to cure rheumatism, having been suffering for three years, and also been under the treatment of six skillful doctors for four months without feeling any relief. I determined to set myself under the care of Dr. Tom She Bin, who gave me immediate relief, and in the course of five weeks I was enjoying good health.

PANFILO MURILLO,
Pomona, California.

My son, nine years of age, utterly prostrated with typhoid fever for six weeks he was under the explicit care of hospital doctors, but without avail. All his body was declared incurable I heard the name of Doctor Tom She Bin, and at once was induced to see him, and I left my son to his absolute care. Fifteen days after my son was able to play around the yard I fully believe Doctor Tom She Bin saved my son's life.

CARRIE CONTRERAS,

San Francisco, February 26th, 1897.

J. E. MEDRAN,
756 Workmain St., East Los Angeles, Cal.
Montenzou, Cal., March 1st, 1897.

I write this letter for the benefit of any one who may be in trouble, as I have been About fourteen years ago I was taken sick. The doctors pronounced it ulceration of the stomach and said it would end in a cancer.

At times I would vomit a black and bloody looking matter, also a great deal of white mucus. The disease would make me very nervous and despondent. At different times during my ailment I would get some relief for a few months, then it would come back as bad or worse than ever I doctored with several as good doctors as I could find in the East and also here in California, but none of them effected a cure.

I was advised to consult Dr. Tom She Bin, which I did about the 1st of October, 1892.

He said my trouble was the cancer of the stomach. I commenced taking his medicine immediately. For the first three or four months there seemed to be but a very little change. After that time I improved very fast and am now able to do quite a good day's work. I have every reason to believe he has effected a permanent cure for me. J. L. CARPENTER.

San Francisco, March 2, 1897.

I saw Dr. Tom She Bin's advertisement I first come up to 615 Kearny street to feel my pulse. He tell me what trouble I had, was true. I had a pain over my body, and chilly. I fell worse and worse, until I was totally paralyzed. I was induced to consult Tom She Bin, and he, by the aid of his wonderful Chinese herbs, I felt somewhat relieved in twenty-four hours, and he agreed to treat me for the sum of two hundred dollars, and now I feel grateful to the doctor for his efforts. Very truly,

MONDAY.....AUGUST 23, 1897.

You can expect almost anything on the streets of San Francisco but you musn't expectorate.

Strange that gold discoveries generally direct one to places or conditions that are just about as inaccessible as the vault of a bank.

"Never put ice inside a melon; it destroys its flavor," is a table hint just placed before the public. What is the flavor of ice anyhow?

A St. Paul woman is lecturing on Many a married man will endorse all "The Power of the Human Voice," she says on the subject.

Queen Victoria is working on a project by which all deserving widows of 75 years and upwards, will be pensioned. She knows what it's like herself.

If as Joaquin Miller says, strawberries grow on the top of Chilcoot Pass, it will be hard to persuade most people that it is the icy, frost-bitten peak that has been pictured.

An Eastern millionaire has gone to toil as a laborer so that he can practically study the social problem. He should have put a laborer in his place in order to even things up.

If the South Polar Expedition also finds a Clondyke what lots of fun there will be. It ought to pay steamship companies now-a-days to salt a few placers out near the termini of their lines.

The Postmaster General has made a proper and popular move in allowing overtime to the letter carriers. No class of men is harder worked nor more faithful to duty than the post office employees.

Instead of wheat being worth only 50 cents a bushel and the silver in a dollar worth a dollar the wheat is now up to the dollar mark and the silver down to the 50 cent one. Bryan will have to acknowledge pretty soon that the free silver jig is up.

Who ever is interested in the Corral Hollow Railroad, should try and rush it through at once so as to take advantage of the big boom there. It is stated that within three months the mines will have an output of 500 tons a day, and within six months, 1000 tons a day.

Dan Stuart is pretty good at drawing the theatrical long bow. He told his London managers that the veriscope pictures of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight have been netting $10,000 a day in America. It is doubtful if they cleared $100 a day while on this Coast.

The New York World is offering a prize of $100 to the first person who can guess the individual Croker will favor for Mayor of that city. This is an indirect compliment to the Tammany boss, for if it is as hard as that to guess what he is doing he must be remarkably cunning.

Omaha is making elaborate preparations for the Transmississppi and International Exposition she will hold in June next. Our State Board of Trade should see to it that California is well represented for there will undoubtedly be a big crowd in attendance and with a good exhibit we could tempt many of them to come still farther west.

Clara Fallmer, the child murderess, must have chameleonic eyes. This is the way Alice Rix described them in yesterday's Examiner: "She lifted the dark eyes. They are the most wonderful and most beautiful dark eyes I have ever seen." And this is the way they appeared to the reporter of another paper: "The bright, clear, hazel eyes were veiled in an instant and the answer came very slowly."

The editor of the Colusa Sun has discovered a "No Man's Land" judging from the following item he presents to his readers: "There is a mountainous plain near Colusa, Lake, Glenn and Mendocino lines at the corners. It belongs to none of these counties and none claim it. The main peak of it is called 'Bloody Rock'" A mountainous plain" is novelty enough in itself to make the place remarkable.

One might reasonably think that there would be so little profit in counterfeiting pennies that the shappers would not bother with them. There is, however said to be an enormous quantity in circulation and from $1 to $2 worth find their way into the United States Treasury every day. They are cut in two parts and returned to those who deposited them. So cleverly is the counterfeiting done that only experts can detect the difference.

If the Code Commissioners could suggest to the next Legislature a plan by which some of the red tape could be taken off our penal laws they would earn the thanks of everyone but criminals. The life of a murderer can be prolonged almost indefinitely now, as witness the Durant case. We might take a little lesson from Continental Europe in this regard. Canovas was assassinated on the 8th of this month and his murderer was tried, sentenced and executed within thirteen days.

PROFITS IN HONEY.

Fresh evidence is continually coming to the front of the many opportunities that are offered to home seekers in California. The State was once known to the agricultural world simply as the location of cattle ranches and mammoth wheat-fields, so huge that our farmers were depicted as being satisfied if their machine-operated harvesters succeeded in picking up four-fifths of, and it has long since been demonestablishment of fruit farms and it was found that with a ten-acre patch it was possible to clear up an income of several thousand dollars a year. One by one, different projects presented themselves and were taken advantage of and it has long since been demonstrated that a man with five acres of good land in California can clear up more than with a quarter of a section in the East.

One of the least exploited of these small farm industries is as regards making honey. With a practically perpetual summer and the ever-recurring blossoming of wild flowers, it is no task for the bees to store up the toothsome extract and the business makes a comfortable little adjunct to a farmer's income. An idea of what can be done in this line has just been given by an up-country farmer. "I took up bee culture, "he said" because it was little trouble and paid good money. Three years ago I invested $100 in bees and stands. This season my first crop of honey amounted to 550 cases of about four pounds to the case, my second crop will reach two hundred pounds, my third two hundred, and my fourth one hundred, the crops coming off respectively in the months of June, August, September and October. I get from eight to ten cents a pound for the honey and am not able to supply the demand."

At an average of nine cents a pound this cleared up $213—a nice little side issue. The business is in fact best adapted for small farms instead of being conducted on a large scale, for in order to make big profit, it would be necessary to keep such huge swarms of bees that the adjacent country would have a hard time to furnish the necessary material. With the industry going on a comparatively small scale at places scattered here and there, the bees would have plenty of territory to work on and there would be no question as to the results. Let more of our Alameda county farmers go into the business. There is a permanent market for the honey in San Francisco and no county in the State is better adapted for bees than ours, so why not take advantage of it.

Here is an interesting definition of an oft-used verb: "Somebody who wants to explain what the editorial "we" signifies, says the meaning varies to suit the circumstances. For instance, to suit the circumstances. For instance, when you read that "we expect our wife home today," "we" refers to the editor; when it is "we are a little late with our work," it includes the whole office force, even the devil and towel; "we are having a boom," the town is meant; "we received over 700,000 immigrants last year," and it embraces the nation, but "we have hog cholera in our midst" only refers to the man who takes the journal two or three years without paying for it."

A skirt dance as evidence is a novelty even for Oakland, the center of all things marvellous. If this sort of thing goes on it will be a positive delight to serve on a Police jury and instead of shunning the subpoening officer as if he were a leper he will be the most sought for man in town.

The rivalry between St. Paul and Minneapolis brings out some good things now and then. The St. Paul papers are claiming that daylight burglars stole a piano in Minneapolis at noon the other day, and hid it in the grass on Hennepin avenue—one of the principle thoroughfares of the town.

Pope Leo has got the chance of his reign to make himself popular in America. A word of approval from him will save Miss Cisneros from the twenty years' imprisonment directed by Weyler, and there will be rejoicing throughout the length and breadth of the United States.

With deep water ships unloading coal and then taking on cargoes of wheat on the Oakland water front, our harbor will be one in fact as well as in name. And this is the sort of thing the envious opposition of certain Alameda mischief makers is trying to stop.

There are almost myriads of original McKinley men, but a novelty in the shape of an original Bryan man has been unearthed. He is W. H. Crary of Omaha and it is to be hoped that he is heartily ashamed of himself.

Joaquin Miller omits to state in his correspondence how his supply of Mazatlan sausage is holding out. In that land where dogs are so scarce sausage is doubtless something new and may be in big demand.

Coxey wants to be Governor of Ohio. However, Coxey's wants bother few people besides Coxey himself, and he will doubtless get another warning very soon to keep off the grass.

A POLAR QUEST.

Unconquerably, men venture on the quest
And seek an ocean amplitude unsailed,
Cold, virgin, awful. Scorning ease and rest,
And heedless of the heroes who have failed,
They face the ice floes with a dauntless zest.

The polar quest! Life's offer to the strong
To pass beyond the pale, to do and dare,
Leaving a name that stirs us like a song,
And making captive some strange Otherwhere,
Though grim the conquest and the labor long.

Forever courage kindles, faith moves forth
To find the mystic floodway of the North.
—Richard Burton in Leslie's Weekly.

PEOPLE AND THINGS.

The picture of Ambassador Hay in court dress makes him resemble the modern ringmaster in a circus.

A courageous Connecticut woman confesses that she has read the New York Ledger every week for the last forty-one years.

The Empress of Austria takes her bath every morning at 5 o'clock, which is earlier and ottener than most women do who are not Empresses.

Paul Dunbar, the colored poet, who is being lionized in London, couldn't obtain lodgings at a third rate hotel if he were to visit Kansas City.

Jacob Lorillard Jr. is disinherited by the will of his mother, but as the estate only amounted to quarter of a million dollars young Jacob will not be likely to lose any sleep.

A Chicago paper says that the society women of that city will hold a gymkhana next week, and Uncle Reuben wants to know if they are going to hold it by the tail.

Ernest Hogan, the clever Topeka negro, who is the author of "All Coons Look Alike to Me" and other darktown melodies, is now in New York, and a report from there says he has been sued for divorce by his white wife.

If there are no female angels in heaven, as a New Jersey preacher states, then man will have to be content with those he finds on earth, and their name is legion, in spite of the cynics.

A Tennessee man, having been deserted by a rich woman whom he had married, is suing her for a year's support. The poor fellow, thus thrown on the world, has no wife to provide for him.

Near Paris, Tex., lightning struck a farm house and "knocked a young man insensible." His sister, who happened to be standing on a newspaper near him, escaped. Subscribe at once.

"What is the matter with Smith? He doesn't seem half as vain as he used to." "He has just found out how little he amounts to. He learned to ride a wheel without the papers saying a word about it."

There is one class of people to which the treasure of the Clondyke cannot, for obvious reasons, furnish temptation—the Chicago boodle alderman. They are doing pretty well just where they are, thank you.

The story that Thomas A. Edison thoroughly enjoys trashy novels is quite reasonable. Nobody wants to be scientific and intellectual all the time—at least, nobody who is able to put his knowledge to any good use.

Recent statistics show that the English citizen's heaviest bill after food, rent, clothing and drink is his gas bill. England pays $100,000,000 a year to the gas companies, and it is calculated that the gas companies realize a profit of $20,000,000 a year.

One of Kansas City's prominent citizens who was killed in a runaway Saturday left behind two brothers, two sisters, two sons and two daughters. The vehicle was a two horse one and had two occupants. His office was on the second floor of the Shiedley building. He was brought to this vicinity by his parents from Kentucky when he was just 2 years old.

An old housekeeper declares that but one side of the servant girl topic is ever given in the press, and that great injustice is done the woman help. She avers that the average servant girl, on leaving a place, invariably conveys to her new mistress a great amount of information as to the domestic life and eccentricities of the family lately employing her, omitting nothing that she can possibly think of. Some of this may be true and some of it may not be perfectly accurate, but it is all entertaining, and the system enables the women of a community to know just what is going on in every home. Yet no credit is ever given the poor girl for what she knows.

HERE AND THERE.

Goethe once presented a set of his works to Harvard University—a fact brought to light some years ago in the process of recataloguing the German literature of the library.

A Cambridge, Mass., woman, during several very hot days, hired a small boy with a sponge to stand at a watering trough near her home and wet the heads of all the horses as they came up to drink.

"As to the claim that ice cream will cure the hiccoughs," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "my experience with several young nieces convinces me that the only thing ice cream will cure is the craving for ice cream, and it only does that temporarily."

Commenting on the recent eclipse, an old negro said: "De sun been a-hearin' all dis cussin 'bout hot weather, an he 'bout make up his min' dat he'd tu'n loose en give de worl' somepin' ter talk 'bout; en Lawd only knows what he would a-done ef de moon hadn't took en come between 'em."

A Wellsville, N. Y., woman, carrying a baby in her arms, stepped upon the railroad track in front of an approaching train to rescue her pet dog. She and the child will die, but the pampered pride of the household escaped without the loss of a single curl in his lovely caudal appendage. The days of heroic deeds are not yet passed.

A murderer, who had been attended by a physician, addressed the following note to the latter from the jail: "Dear Doctor: Please make out your bill and send it to me right away. My trial comes off next week, and I am to be insane at that time, and will so continue until I reach the asylum. I want to pay my debts before I lose my mind."

The proprietor of a Maine summer resort, who sought to deceive his guests by having a thermometer constructed of sufficient length to allow the bulb to be concealed in an ice box, has come to grief. The guests would take a look at the mercury and then insist on having wood fires kindled in their rooms.

The young woman—By the way, what does the word Clondyke mean? The young man—They tell me it means reindeer. The young woman (with a charming blush)—I should think it would be more appropriate if it meant "snowdear," wouldn't you? The young man (trembling but with great promptness)—Yes, dear.

A Boston paper tells a story of a Smith College girl who was awakened in her summer home by the cry of "Fire! Fire!" Cool and collected, she donned her clothes, and then thought: "Now, what do I value the most?" After mature reflection, she took a list of books from her writing desk and left the house. "I am so glad I saved it," she said afterward to a sympathizing friend, "for if I had lost it I could not tell what books I read last year."

"The murderers found no sympathy among the other men, and the crime was reported to the Bahia authorities, and Consul Shute immediately arrested the men when they reached shore."

FASHION HINTS.

Most of the new tucked evening gowns of gauzy material have rows of handsome Venetian lace insertion on bodies and skirt. Other toilets are made with Gainsborough fichus of tulle or mousseline de soie crossed.

Sleeves with tucked uppers are much affected for fancy thin gowns, and the sleeves are considered handsomer when the tucks are graduated. These graduated tucks have created a furore. They are used for everything.

Wing drapery on sleeves is very much in vogue. The top is fulled and the fullness is drawn tight and tacked down across the middle, then allowed to stand out in a wide frill from the back of the arm like a wing, as its name denotes.

Pink is so becoming to youth that it is much worn. One pretty gown of pink crepe de chine has horizontal rows of lace let into the bodice beneath a lace-frilled cape, while five gathered tucks appear below the waist. Pink taffetas formed the slip underneath.

Some of the new fall importations of house gowns have a double sleeve, a sheath sleeve underneath and over this a full one hanging loosely down. It is prognosticated that this is but the entering wedge for a revival of the dainty lace and mull undersleeves of antebellum days.

Tulle skirts are covered from hem to waist with tiny ruchings, and the amount of labor expended in making one is something to turn the hair gray. Cerise and flame colored gauzes with faint chine patterns are being sent over from Paris, the bodices cut square, the sleeves ruffled and transparent.

Mousseline de soie and chiffon have seemingly reached the acme of perfection in coloring and design, the black with floral chine patterns being especially handsome over colored silks. Lovely skirts are made of the sun-ray according plaiting in chiffon and the mousseline, though they are not especially durable.

Chiffon, which has hitherto been considered proper in the shape of entire gowns only for evening wear, is now made for daytime in light pink, yellow, heliotrope, blue and spring green. The skirts are made with graduated flounces or frills to the waist, and the proud wearer does not dare sit down for fear of ruining the fragile fabric.

Accordion-plaited skirts of black silk grenadine, canvas tulle, fancy French and Russian nets and similar diaphanous textiles are made up over gored foundations of brilliant Turkish red or golden-yellow satin. Portions of the bodice and sleeves are likewise plaited and finished with elegant decorations in cut jet.

Matrons are ordering the transparent black-ribbed materials, trigoline being the favoritee. A black trigoline, corded yet transparent, was embroidered around the skirt with white feather stitching and had a short but stylish bolero of poppy-red silk trimmed with black and white in squares and secured at the crossings with ornamental buttons. The high collar had plaitings at the back, and there were lace epaulette and a ruffled belt of black and white silk.

"The hotel," explained the clerk, "is in the hands of a receiver."
"Where can I find him?"
"Well, an hour ago he was receiving breakfast; shortly afterward he received three cocktails, and in about ten minutes he'll be here to receive his salary. Take a chair!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Somerville woman who was persuaded by a neighbor to drink some "pure juice of the grape" the other day, protests that it is not intoxicating, but just the same she spent all the afternoon trying to sew chlorate of potash tablets for buttons on her husband's shirts.—Somerville Journal.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

This is emphatically the season of fruit stains and mildew. Fortunately, too, it is the season of grass bleaching and hot sunshine. Mildew is easily taken out of white goods with chloride of lime, but it cannot be used on colored clothes. Put a small amount of lime in cold water and stir until it is entirely dissolved; then strain through cheese cloth and immerse the mildewed article. Work up and down, and as soon as the spots have bleached out rinse it through three or four waters and dry.

Fruit stains of all kinds will come out of white goods if they are taken in time and treated exactly right. Raspberry and strawberry stains will disappear if boiling hot soft water is poured over them. Oxalic acid will remove all other fruit stains, and a bottle should always be kept in the laundry. As it is very poisonous it should be plainly labeled and kept out of the way of children. Get the acid in crystalized form, put in a bottle, and pour cold water over it. If part remains undissolved, add water as the solution is used. It is sure to remove fruit, leather, or ink stains. Touch only the spots and rince quickly and thoroughly when they disappear. For lace or muslin add a little sal soda or ammonia to the first rinsing water. Dilute the acid at first, and make it stronger if necessary.

Boiling hot soft water will remove tea, coffee, or chocolate stains. If tea stains are of long standing, soak in glycerine and wash the latter out with cold water.

Use diluted ammonia for orange and lemon stains.

Make a thick paste of lemon or pie-plant juice and salt and starch for red iron rust, and expose to the sun. If one application is not effectual, try again. Oxalic acid is just as sure for black iron rust.

Alcohol or molasses will take out grass stains.

Cover wine stains with salt and lay in the sun.

Nothing will remove blood stains better than cold soap suds, to which kerosene has been added. Kerosene will also remove tar or fresh paint.

Machine oil or vaseline will come out easily when washed with soap and cold water.

A Progressive Chinawoman.

As far as her name conveys to the average American, Hu King Eng might just as well be a man, but she isn't Hu King is a remarkably little maid from the Celestial Empire, and more than that, she is the first woman of that heathen land to whom the degree of doctor of medicine has been granted.

Dr. Hu was born in Foochow, and in her babyhood she had every oriental luxury which a celesial baby could possibly cry for. Her grandfather was a mandarin of power and wealth, who late in his life became converted to Christianity and brought his grandchild up in that faith.

When she was old enough, little Hu King was sent away to a boarding school, but she never seemed to take any interest in smuggling caramels, going to matinees and other courses which school girls take. Instead, she prowled around in the dispensary connected with the institution, learning all she could about medicines and drugs. So marked was her thirst for medical lore that her father decided to make a physician of her.

After bitter opposition on the part of all her relatives, who said they would rather see her dead than a doctor, or whatever the title is in Chinese, Hu King came across the seas to this country. She matriculated at the Ohio Wesleyan University, and after four years of hard, persevering work was graduated with the degree of master of arts.

From Ohio, she went to Philadelphia, where she took a three years' course in the Woman's Medical College and a post-graduate course in the Philadelphia Polyclinic, from both of which institutions she received degrees. Then followed several months of practical work in the Woman's Hospital in Boston, and Dr. Hu, fully equipped for her life work, returned to Foochow and assumed charge of the Hu Hospital.

Her success has been remarkable. One instance is related of a coolie wheeling his blind old mother a thousand miles in a wheelbarrow to consult the woman doctor. A double cataract operation and the blind was made to see. The only son of a wealthy mandarin was dumb from his birth, and so of no account—disqualified to worship before the manes of his ancestors. The tied tongue was at once relieved, and the dumb was made to talk.

Dr. Hu King Eng is one of the delegates to the Woman's Congress to be held in London next year.—New York Press.

Adopted a Mastiff.

Mr. Kit Chinn, who is the eldest Colonel Jack Chinn's stalwart sons, and who is known in the racing world to be almost as expert a starter as his father, the Colonel, has on his breeding farm near town a huge Russian mastiff named Royal. The mastiff weighs fully two hundred pounds. Royal has been the constant companion of Mr. Chinn's thoroughbreds, and a strong friendship has grown up between dog and horses, but Mr. Chinn opened his eyes in astonishment when he discovered to what an abnormal length the friendship had been carried.

A servant had notified him that one of his mares had foaled a fine colt, and on strolling out to the paddock to see it he was greatly mystified to have two colts. On drawing nearer, however, he found that the report of the servant was correct, and what he had mistaken for a second colt was Royal, the Russian mastiff, who had been fully adopted by the mare. There before him stood the mare with her colt on one side and Royal on the other, both placidly taking their supper. Believing the adoption of the dog would be detrimental to the development of the colt by depriving it of its full supply of milk, Mr. Chinn gave orders that Royal should be kept away from the mare.

The mastiff was accordingly locked up, but the separation caused both mare and colt so great disquietude that it was thought best to release the dog, who straightway returned to his foster mother, and both by her and by his foster brother was received with manifestations of lively delight.—Harrodsburg (Ky.) Correspondence Louisville Post.

A Clerical Story.

A good story of a clergyman and a cab driver comes from a little fishing village in the north of Scotland. The chapel of this queer and sparsely populated town depended entirely for its supply on the occasional help of the clergy in neighboring towns. It so happened that upon a very rainy Sunday a new clergyman from the town of S—— volunteered to conduct services in the little chapel, and in order to get there he engaged a vehicle which the English know as a "fly," in which, through the pouring rain, he was driven across the country to the chapel.

Upon his arrival he found no one at hand, not even a sexton to toll the bell to summon the natives, so he took it upon himself to pull the rope, leaving the cabby meanwhile outside in the wet. For a long time nobody arrived, but finally one solitary individual did appear and sat down in a pew nearest the door.

The clergyman then donned his surplice and began the service. When this was ended he observed that, inasmuch as there was but one member of the congregation, he thought it would be well to dispense with the sermon.

"Oh, no, sir. Please go one with the sermon."

When half way through he expressed the fear that perhaps he was tiring his listener, and was much gratified to learn from his own lips that such was not the case.

"I should be glad to listen to you for hours, sir," he said, and so the sermon ran on to an hour in length, and finally the service was concluded.

The preacher then expressed a desire to shake hands with so flattering an auditor. And then the trick came out—a trick which the clergyman's near sightedness had prevented him from seeing at once.

His listener was none other than the driver of the fly, who was all the time charging him at so much an hour for the use of his vehicle.—New York Journal.

The Power of Actors.

The American play "Secret Service," which is now running in London, has been remarkably successful with the English audiences. One of the highest tributes to the play itself as well as to the acting was paid the other night when, in the scene where the hero throws away all chance of escape by informing the Confederate Sergeant in command of the squad about to execute him that the rifles had been tampered with, an excited individual in the gallery roared out: "You — fool!" This reminds a writer in the New York Telegram of a similar incident that occurred in this country years ago, which he describes as follows: "One of the audience at Wallack's theater during the regime of the famous stock company became greatly excited at a performance of "The Stranger," and as the climax was approached in the last act he was completely overcome by his feelings. In the farewell scene between the stranger and Mrs. Haller, when he determines that she shall not longer be dependent upon the bounty of others, offers her the papers securing her an independence, and she, humbly penitent, refuses the gift which would be a continual reproach to her, the spectator, in a voice tremulous with emotion, cried: "Take them, you fool, take them!" The effect was electric the audience was too deeply moved by the effect of the play to applaud, but a smile was seen playing on every face. Mr. Wallack and Mrs. Hoey and the other actors were for a moment slightly disconcerted, but at length proceeded with the scene."

WORDS OF WISDOM

Several Interesting Discourses Heard From the Pulpits Yesterday.

PAIN THE PRICE OF PLEASURE.

Rev. Davis Delivers a Timely Sermon to a Large Congregation.

DR. COYLE ON FASHION'S FAD.

Other Uplifting Addresses on a Variety of Subjects.

Rev Edwards Davis preached to a large audience at the Central Christian Church on "The Passing of Time." This was the first of a series of sermons on popular themes.

"Pastimes seem to be a pursuit of the people. We need not, however, seek to pass our time; time unaided, will pass by. The inrolling tides are not assisted by the breezes that ripples the surface of the sea and breaks the crests into a myriad of gems, and the ebbing tide can not be held by the beckoning of the hand of a babe. 'Time and tide waits for no man. The flight of time is as an arrow that leaves the string. Time when passed,is irrevocable. The admonition that we "walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time," can be observed only insomuch as by working the more expeditiously we can make up for the time that is lost. If, after years have been wasted in laggardly wandering, determination is made to set out on the chase of life, those who entered before have great advantages in life's handicap. It may be possible for one to enter the race at the eleventh hour, and reach the goal, before the gong strikes a knell, 'the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong.' Eccles 9, 11.

"In the paper chase of life the tottering steps of the debauchee whose delirious mind leads into every alluring vista, whose unfulfilled promises of joy drive him back with a despair into the broad way—such a one on such a course is seeking a pastime. The devotee of sensualism kneeling with lustful eyes before the gilded shrine of passion, whose hypnotized eyes seeing bewitching unrealities, when death by its past counteracts the hypnosis, the eyes stare at ugly realities, and find instead of a gilded throne, occupied by a lustrous queen, a meagre home, whose loved ones by desertion have departed. The devotee's wide-open eyes gaze into an empty chair where a sainted mother or a wife might have been enthroned. The financier whose fingers count and place coins on the chess board of chance, after spending hours of profound concern about the move of a pawn, advances with slight loss, and seemingly splendid gain, taking a queen for a knight, two castles for a bishop, just fancying how the lips shall frame the word (checkmate) on fortune—the issue of the king; higher than the king of the checkerboard, with one swath of the sword, throws the figure-pieces of mimic battle to the ground. Such is God's checkmate on that one whose God is gain. Or the votary of pure religion at its shrine, the home of the poor, paying tribute to God by giving to the widow and the fatherless, sacrificing self that others may be saved. Such a one is as selfish as they who have lived for self alone. Such a votary's joy is in the contribution of enjoyment, and would not care to consort with the debauchee of drunkenness, the devotee of lust, or the gamester of chance. All these are in the pursuit of pleasure, and their occupations are their pastime.

"This is not inconsistent in that pleasure is the intuitional purpose of life, for it is home, society and nations exist. In our Declaration of Independence, the "pursuit of happiness" is cited as one of the purposes of national existence. Our nation is pledged to permit this privilege. In fact, upon its attainments depends the safety of the people. Happiness, as selfish as it may seem to the social cynic, or to the one whose dynamo of passion has burnt out, happiness is a condition of contentment, and content is the only warrant of peace. Without a nation makes pleasure possible, it can not expect that men will be willing to bare their breasts to the blade of the battle-field to defend a country whose barrenness has not provided the possibility of joy. Patriotism is economic because it protects the State. Reverence is buoyant because it throws over the shrine of religion a veil that hides the vulgar, and reveals the virtuous. Patriotism and reverence are cultivated, that in serving our nation and our church, each may protect and purify ourselves.

"Every self is the center of a particle of the universe of life. As for me, I live for pleasure. The highest pleasure possible, and every sane man lives for the same thing, ostensibly if his veracity has not been warped by cant; not only man, but God exists for joy. The Deity enjoys the highest elation when He has given birth to joy. I fancy when His Divine Mind looks down from the thrown of the Infinite, and sees humanity as countless as the stars of the sky or as the sands of the shore, moves with marvelous emotion, or when men's woe-wrung souls wail out their anguish, when pain penetrates their being, God knows the cause, and knows the ultimate good. Thus though sublimely sympathetic, He comprehends the laws, effects, and the mighty mind, with supreme satisfaction, can see the afflicted spirit in the consciousness that eventually its struggle will strengthen the soul so that the spirit will subdue the flesh. No comfort can come without cost. Pain is the price of pleasure impure. conclentious is the reality of certain supposed pleasures. We should pass our time in accomplishing those things that are permanent. Men's breath might be well spent in blowing bubbles when by the ministration some one will be impressed with the similarity of the bubble to the empty life. Butterflies might be chased if when caught we find that we have been lead into fairy land, embowered with foliage and flowers. It is better to pass time than to let it pass us."

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED.

Rev. Glen McWilliams Tells of the Relations of Capital and Labor.

At the First Christian Church last evening the Rev. Glen McWilliams delivered an interesting sermon on "The Army of Unemployed." In the course of his remarks, he said:

"A distinguished philanthropist, William T. Stead, wrote a book entitled "If Christ Came to Chicago." This book presents an army of facts that no honest man would attempt to deny. It shows the abominable cruelty and injustice of the verdict of society against the 'army of the unemployed.'"

"William T. Stead, a man of universal honor and noted for veracity, tells us that during the winter of 1893 it was not uncommon to find, after nightfall, at least two thousand homeless people crowded in the corridors and on the stairways of the City Hall building in Chicago. "The air was cold and keen, and when the sleeping room was filled, men preferred to stand in the warm, close, fetid atmosphere of the crowded building, rather than freeze to death in the frost and snow outside." William T. Stead says that, considering their hunger, the hard, cold stone floor on which they slept and the many other discomforts to which they were subjected, they were singularly quiet. He declares that most of these two thousand souls were "hard working men, honestly anxious to find work."

"He says 'it was impossible to do more than sample this mass of human wretchedness,' but Professor Hourwich with a band of students from the University subjected a hundred of this crowd of two thousand to a searching analysis. Only ten of the one hundred belonged to labor unions, and these ten were selected at random. Only two had worked for less than a dollar a day. Sixty-four had earned from one to two dollars a day, and twenty had earned from two dollars to four dollars a day.

"Fifty-nine were native born Americans, forty-one were foreigners. The most of the men were in the prime of life. Only one was below twenty, and four were above fifty years of age.

"A number of the men were well educated. One was a graduate of the University of Nebraska. The majority of these men had come to Chicago seeking work, and not one of them had found it.

"I do believe that, of all the miserable, disheartening occupations in the whole world, that of seeking work and finding none is one of the worst.

"That was a quaint, but true, conceit of Mrs. Browning's that 'God, in cursing, gives us better gifts than man in blessing.' But whether curse or blessing, one thing is certain, and it is this: Work was what these men wanted, and work was the one thing they could not get. I believe if they had been horses or mules they would have been fed and sheltered by a score of Chicago's millionaire cannibals and gold gluttons. But alas! poor wretches, they were only men, out hunting in vain for employment, while the birds of the air had their nests and the foxes their holes, these poor unfortunate wretches (many of them free born Americans) were half frozen, and not half, but all the way, sure enough, starved, and with no place to lay their heads.

"If they had been slaves, they would have brought a million dollars at the auction block. But as they had the misfortune to be free men, free citizens of this great country which we call 'the bounteous birth-land of the free, where the nations of the world can dump their ship loads of paupers, ex-convicts, bankrupt, licentious Lords, and noblemen where the wanderers from afar may come and breathe the air of liberty,' no man would give a penny for their services or provide a cot on which they could rest their weary and hunger-bleached bones.

"The inhumanity of Chicago's society to the 'army of the unemployed' may be more visible and brazen than other cities, but the spirit of it is manifest in all our cities, and is growing in every community every day we live."

The speaker then discoursed at length on the relations of capital and labor, showing how one affected the other, and of the many abuses daily apparent. Continuing, he said:

"I do believe it is the right of any labor organization to strike for higher wages if they believe that they are not justly compensated for their labor, but I contend that no organization has the right, legal or moral, to say to other laborers, 'Unless you join us in this strike you shall not work at all.'

"The toilers of our country must make haste to learn that, in resorting to such extreme methods, labor has not only enlarged the barrier between it and capital, but it is losing much of the sympathy which virtuous people have felt in its righteous conflict.

"With all the earnestness and sympathy of my soul, I do believe that what labor needs in its battle for bread and justice is divine wisdom and power. You can never close up the great chasm between capital and labor unless we, with earnest hearts, rely firmly upon the guidance of Jehovah Christ and his teachings is the best and only solvent for the problems of capital and labor.

"My friends, let us strive to calm the tempests of unbrotherly and unholy passion which is boiling in the hearts of these contending factions. Let us come face to face and work and pray for God's assistance in the adjustment of these difficulties. I know of no better way to strengthen our brotherly love, so that the strong shall bear the burdens of the weak, that the rich and poor shall dwell together in the blessedness of fraternal sympathy, love and peace."

THE FADS OF RELIGION.

Rev. Robert Coyle Delivers a Sermon Full of Live Interest.

Dr. Robert F. Coyle preached on the fads of religion last evening under the name of "Side Tracks in Religion." The First Presbyterian Church was crowded with an interested audience. Dr. Coyle dwelt especially on Theosophy and Christian Science. In part he said:

"Theosophy teaches the doctrine of re-incarnation. When you pass out of this life your soul, or ego, must live in some other body again. There is no help for it. If you die as John Smith you may re-appear as Susan Jones. The matter of sex is not arbitrary. In the re-incarnation the woman may be changed into a man and the man into a woman. The society bell may find herself re-incarnated in a boot-black. The bachelor who hates children may re-appear as the mother of a family. We do not know who we are in that last re-incarnation; we cannot tell what we shall be in the next and these changes are to go on indefinitely, or until the ego reaches a condition where it can recall all the past; then it enters into the All, sinks into the impersonal God as a bubble sings into the sea. In other words the blotting out of separate existence is the goal of theosophy. And this is one of the side-tracks which some prefer to Christianity. A universe without a personal God, a universe in the grip of a pitiless fate, man passing through a long, long series of changes, or re-incarnations, and reaching Nirvana, or nothingness at last.

Accept Christian Science, and if consistent, you must refuse to believe in a personal God, and in individual consciousness, and think yourself out of the notion that there are any such things as sin and death in the world. According to Christian Science you are not you, I am not I. Man is but an emanation from God, or if you please a part of God, one of the factors which go to make up God. Man is incapable of sin, sickness and death because he is really God. A man is lame or crippled, or cross-eyed, or consumptive, or bald-headed, only because he thinks he is. If any man feels that I am exaggerating let him turn to Mrs. Eddy's book and read for himself. This science sets itself against all the learning of the ages, against the Bible, against the Cross, against common sense. It is infinite absurdity to teach that no sun shines by day and that no moon rules by night, that all the things we see, and all the pains we feel, are but fictions of the mind."

LAW AND JUSTICE.

Rev. Palmer Speaks of the Principles Taught in the Bible.

The Rev. S. S. Palmer of the Brooklyn Presbyterian Church spoke yesterday on "Justice." In the course of his remarks he said:

"Men may assert their opinions contrary to God's word, but that does not make truth. The word of God standeth sure. Though every man should turn against it the faithfulness of God would not bechanged. The place to place and as a last resort he says: 'I cannot be punished for my sin, because it serves to show the justice of God.' Then all judgment is at an end. How could God judge the world? Gentile would then be as free as the Jew.

"How does the question now stand? Is there no refuge? As looked at from the divine side there is no exception to the non-righteousness of the race. He could see no one seeking after God. A negative attitude toward God is sin. The turning away from God is followed by spiritual blindness and moral degredation. The first step toward anything like freedom in wrong doing is to let go our hold on God."

Lectures of Music.

The Rev. C. W. Wendte announces a couse of musically illustrated lectures on "The Great Romantic Composers"—Von Weber, Schubert, Schumann, Chopin, Rossini (in place of Mendelssohn, already given), and Wagner. They will resemble in general features the course on the classical composers, which drew such large audiences some years ago, but being given on week-nights will permit a wider selection of music. Many eminent artists have already been secured and a male quartette and mixed chorus.

The musical director will be Professor D. P. Hughes. Preliminary programmes and course tickets will soon be issued. The course will begin on or about September 17th and extend into November.

Injured in an Elevator.

Mrs. John F. Ames, a former resident of this city, but now in Portland, met with a serious injury recently. She is stopping at the Hotel Portland with her husband and little son, Mortimer. The little boy entered the elevator cage during the temporary absence of the elevator man and moved the lever causing it to start downwards. Mrs. Ames rushed to the rescue of her son and succeeded in getting into the elevator before it had descended very far. In reversing the elevator, she was caught between the apparatus and the shaft and badly injured her right leg. No bones were broken but she will be forced to go on crutches for some time.

HEALTH OFFICER'S CAMPAIGN.

Gossip Around the University Campus and in Classrooms.

NEWS NOTES FROM ALAMEDA.

Attractive Booths and Some Unique Features of the Fete.

BERKELEY, Aug. 23.—Health Officer H. D. Rowell is starting on a vigorous campaign against diseased meat. He has discovered that twelve tuberculous cattle have been sent to Berkeley from some place back of Oakland and have been killed and the meat sold to retail dealers.

This is dangerous, if not more dangerous, than selling the milk, and Health Officer Rowell, who was one of the pioneer milk testers in the country, has taken to watching what became of the condemned cattle. As a result he now says that he has discovered that a herd of twelve tubeculous cows, all of which had been condemned as unfit to be used as milk givers, has been sold to meat dealers in Berkeley, and he is trying to locate the buyer of them.

The Sophmores of the University Saturday night attempted to steal the refreshments at the freshman reception in Stiles Hall. Marshal Richard Lloyd dispersed the crowd that had gathered to seize the edibles and the threatened attack was averted. Later the "sophs" unharnessed the horse of the confectioner and scattered the harness about the campus.

Lloyd Osbourne, step-son and collaborator of Robert Louis Stevenson, is living in Berkeley. He has just come to the college town with his wife and child, and has taken a house on Channin Way. Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson is expected to arrive from Samoa soon. She will join her son in Berkeley. The family is planning a journey through Europe of indefinite duration. It is probable that they will never again make their home in the South Seas, though they may visit Somoa again.

Instructor Bernard Maybeck of the University of California, is pursuing special studies at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, of which he is a graduate. His object is to better prepare himself for his work toward securing permanent plans for the buildings and grounds at Berkeley.

Over $10,000 in diploma and laboratory fees was taken in at the office of the Secretary of the State University last week.

The Students' Congress has appointed Monney '00, C. E. Thomas, '00, Mannon, '00, Simpson, '98, and Bufford, '98, a committee on Reorganization.

The following officers of the Berkeley Brass Band have been elected: President, James Irwin; secretary, K. Sturtevant; treasurer, Jacob Klees.

The Rev. J. A. Cruzan, the newly elected pastor of the North Berkeley Church preached before his new congregation for the first time yesterday.

John Baader of Lorin had a two and a half inch silver vice placed in his right leg to patch up the damage done by a kick from a wild horse. The blow crushed his leg midway between the knee and ankle and two and a half inches of splintered bone were removed by physicians and strong silver wire riveted to the broken bones to support the limb. It will be months before Baader will be able to be up and around again.

RETURN OF PROSPERITY.

COLUMBUS BUGGY COMPANY RESUMES OPERATIONS.

Three Hundred Men Take Up Their Daily Work, With Many More to Follow.

Great Whistle Sounded a Joyous Recall to Labor After an Enforced Idleness.

Joy and gladness, hope and prosperity were mingled in the tones of the great whistle on the immense factories of the Columbus Buggy Company as it sounded this morning a recall to work for the hundreds of employes, who have been in enforced idleness. This great whistle has been silent so long that when it was blown this morning remembrances of the greatness of the Columbus Buggy Company were recalled, and it was the fond wish of all who heard it that it was an indication that before many weeks the great factories will again be working to the fullest capacity.

With the resumption of work this morning, Mr. Clinton D. Firestone, the only surviving partner of the great concern, started in to place the Columbus Buggy Company on the high pinnacle it held before the late combination of circumstances which resulted in the assignment. It is a significant fact that Mr. Firestone is at the head of the great concern, since it was he who contributed not a little to the crowning success of the company in its palmiest days. When it is known through the length and breadth of the country that the concern is now in his safe hands, confidence in the concern will be restored to a marked degree.

Three hundred men went to work this morning, and as soon as the stock can be put in shape others will be added, it being the intention of Mr. Firestone to put back all of the old force of 1,000 men as soon as such a move on his part is practicable. For the past few weeks nearly 200 men have been at work in the shops, but that number was greatly augmented this morning, the various shops have the appearance of the good old times, not many years ago, when the Columbus Buggy Company was the greatest and most widely advertised institution in the Capital City.

Owing to the fact that practically the old force of skilled employes is now at work at the benches and forges, the high grade of vehicles for which this company was famous in past years will be thoroughly maintained. Considerable partly finished stock will be worked up at first, but at the same time much new material will be started through, so there will be no cessation in the onward progress.

Hundreds of merchants and storekeepers throughout the length and breadth of the city hail with delight the resumption of work by the Columbus Buggy Company, since it means renewed prosperity to them along several lines. Not a few of the employes have been reduced to straightened circumstances by the long shut-down, but, with the return of regular paydays, for which the Columbus Buggy Company was noted, money will begin to flow into the coffers of the merchants throughout the city.

The company have some traveling men on the road, and others will be put on in a very short time. Many of the customers were found waiting for the resumption of work by this concern, since the name of the company was the synonym for good, honest, reliable work. Thus it is that many sales have been made already, although the lifting of the assignment has just been completed. Truly the reopening of the Columbus Buggy Company is one of the indications of a revival of business for which the people of Columbus have waited for so long a time.—Columbus Dispatch, July 19, 1897.

Livermore Valley grape growers will be paid by the home members of the Wine Makers' Corporation on the first installment on grapes an increase of $2 per ton over any other section of the State, or $7.00 here and $5.00 elsewhere, where sales are established on the sliding scale. The balance will be paid as soon as the price is set by the Corporation. Grape picking in this valley will be commenced about September the 10th and the yield is expected to reach about 10,000 tons.

HAYWARDS.

(From the Haywards Journal.)

Our farmers are naturally feeling good over the boom in the price of cereals, and good times are apparent on every hand. The boom in the hay market still continues, the choice article freely selling at $15 per ton, and medium from $10 to $12. All of the old hay is going off like hot cakes, and everything will be cleaned up by next year. In regard to wheat, now crowding the $1.00 mark, those well posted predict it will go to two cents.

The trouble with us nowadays is, that we do not lead natural lives. The feminine portion of our society is especially culpable in this way. It is really a wonder that women are as healthy as they are. Very few women get any outdoor exercise. Very many get no exercise at all. Modes of dressing interfere with the proper muscular action and with the circulation of the blood. All the hygienic laws are broken. It is little wonder that nine women in ten are troubled with some derangement or irregularity in the action of the organs distinctly feminine. Neglect and wrong living will show themselves first in the most delicate organs of the whole body. With such weakness and sickness so prevalent, it is to be expected that the bearing of children would be fraught with dread and danger. It should not be so, of course. Nature never meant it to be so. The performance of the highest function of which a woman is capable should not be accompanied by pain. If perfectly natural living were the rule, it would not be so. As lives are lived, something else must be done. A remedy must be found. For over thirty years, Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During that time he has treated thousands of women. He has found in his "Favorite Prescription" a never-failing specific for female complaints It strengthens the whole body and when taken during gestation, shortens the period of labor and makes childbirth well-nigh painless. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child.

DR. HERRICK IS TO LEAD A PARTY.

They Will Leave to Search for Gold in Copper River.

W. W. Davis Expects Good News From His Trinity Mine Today.

Every day brings to light new expeditions which will go and search for gold. The latest is one that is being organized by Dr. L. F. Herrick and Z. T. Fowler, an old Alaskan miner.

The expedition will consist of three hundred men and its destination is the Copper river.

"There is gold all over that country," said Mr. Fowler, "and any one who works can depend on making good wages, and at the same time he stands a good chance of making a rich strike.

"Of course, everybody cannot find pockets already filled with virgin gold, but it is a gold country and no one can makes a mistake who goes there intending to work. I have prospected in scores of places and I never yet was disappointed by not finding gold in sufficient quantities to pay for mining. Our party will consist of two or three hundred and we shall strike inland from the mouth of the Copper river. This part of the country is not like Dawson City and a man has a chance to live instead of being frozen to death."

Dr. Herrick has completed all his plans and says that his party will start from San Francisco as soon as circumstances make it possible.

In a letter received here from C. G. Berg, a former employe of the contractors Hilhouse & Reardon, occur the following interesting passages:

"You can't understand how things are running here. It looks as if everybody is crazy. The freight is today 30 cents per pound from the head of navigation, and from the boat here to land half a cent per pound and 25 cents to go ashore. Everything is way up.

"In the pass there is one man to every three feet. We are going over the Chilcoot Pass. The White Pass is not finished yet, but they travel over there just the same. There were seven horses killed on the passes today.

"One man was shot here yesterday. He was after 2½ cents per pound more than the other men, and so he was killed.

"We have got good news from Stewart river. One man came down with ninety-seven pounds of gold (about shore. Everything goes there.

"Sixty people went back on the boat that left here this afternoon, and more will go. They are not fixed to come over having little money. They are selling their supplies for whatever they can get and turning back."

The Bessick, carrying the El Sueno, sailed Saturday night for St. Michaels. This is probably the best equipped expedition that has yet sailed north.

Commodore Leonard, who is president of El Sueno de Oro Trading Company, said yesterday that there were only eighteen persons interested in the venture, and that they had all made careful inquiries before incorporating the company.

The eight men who are bound for the gold fields are: William Coffe, an engineer, who will take El Sueno up the Youkon; William Bray, a sailor; Chas. Kane, a miner; Bailey Terrel, a student; M. Humphrey, a student; S. Young, an engineer, and miner; F. Bonner, an engineer, and F. Doolittle, a carpenter and house builder. The men and their friends were confident yesterday that they would reach the gold fields this year. They rely upon El Sueno to make the fastest trip to Dawson. The twenty tons of supplies which they figure will last them for two years will be carried by the yacht and in the twenty-foot metallic life boats, which will be towed up the river.

W. W. Davis, the Trinity mine-owner is constantly receiving reports from his property that are encouraging. Good finds of gold are being made in different places and people are flocking to the district.

"There is no doubt that there are valuable deposits all over that district" said Mr. Davis today, "and we are continually making good finds. No one has found the source of the supply down there as yet and when it is found there will be a greater rush than there is at present. I shall return in a few days and my son Gideon will probably be here with good news tonight."

A GRIM SKULL WILL GRIN A RECEPTION.

A Novel Studio Is Being Erected by Denis Dimond at Fruitvale.

Denis Diamond, a budding artist of Fruitvale, is building a quaint studio. The skull of a Flathead Indian is placed over the entrance and when the electric button is touched that rings the bell, it illuminates the skull and sunken eyes give a grim welcome.

The foundation of the building which is 28x16 feet, is built of limestone quarried on the place. The walls are of stone and adobe bricks, taken from the historic Peralta residence, built in 1820, on the avenue named from that family, once so potent here. It is intended to replace the shake roof with tiles as soon as they can be procured. In the wall, with heavy timbers for frames, are windows, each with four sashes and each sash containing thirty little leaded panes of glass. The interior will be wainscoted to a height of five feet. A huge stone fire-place occupies nearly all of one end, above it being a splendid pair of antlers. Around the wall for a frieze will be arranged skulls and huge steins, alternating. Light from incandescent lamps will shine from the skulls.

TO REMOVE THE TRACK.

An Old Franchise to Be Declared Forfeited by the Council.

City Attorney Dow is preparing an ordinance to declare forfeited the franchise to Welles Whitmore and E. K. Alsip for a street railway from Thirteenth and Franklin to Twentieth and Webster streets, which was granted by the Council in 1893. The only thing done to hold the franchise was the laying of forty feet of track at Franklin and Thirteenth streets. Superintendent of Streets Miller wishes this track removed, and it is for that purpose that the ordinance is being prepared.

RELIGION ENTERS AND LOVE DEPARTS.

The Trials of a Salvation Lassie After Joining the Army.

Her Altogether Too Attentive Lover Will Now Go to Jail.

Mary J. Alles, a Salvation Army lassie, has sworn to a warrant charging Louis J. Miller, who resides at 1011 Brush street, with disturbing her peace.

The woman lives at 1018 Twelfth street. In former times, she says, she and Miller were quite friendly and the friendship ripened into something deeper on Miller's part. She confesses that she was beginning to look upon him as something more than a friend, when a few months ago she became converted and decided to devote her future life to saving souls.

With that end in view she donned the uniform of the Salvation Army and gave up all thoughts of Miller.

The young man was not so easily shaken, however. According to the woman he has annoyed her more or less ever since.

She made no complaint, thinking that his annoyance was a part of the cross she was to bear, but last Saturday night, Miller became bolder than usual and attempted to force his way into her house.

After a desperate struggle she succeeded in ejecting him and this morning accompanied by a Salvation Army captain, she called upon Prosecuting Attorney Moore and swore to a complaint charging Miller with disturbing her peace.

Miller has not yet been arrested.

MISS M'LEAN RETURNS.

Will Be Professor of English at the University at Palo Alto.

Miss Mary McLean, daughter of Rev. Dr. J. K. McLean, has returned from Europe and will shortly go to Stanford to fill the chair of English literature.

Miss McLean has passed through the colleges of Berlin and Hamburg and has traveled extensively in the educational centers of Europe.

"There is nothing that is not stern and positive in taking up one's studies in the colleges of Europe," said Miss McLean last night, "and going there to work means that you will throw off everything else and apply yourself with unceasing diligence to your task. The masters there know no leniency, and yet one is inspired to crowd ahead with the best of students and accomplish the seemingly great tasks set for them to do.

"There is much that is quaint and interesting in the old country, but a person who is American born feels the spirit of unrest keenly until his own country is reached once more. It is delightful to return to this bright land after an absence in cold, staid Europe. The educational standards there are high."

J. C. ADAMS INJURED.

His Team Runs Away Throwing Him Against a Stone Curbing.

Attorney James C. Adams of 949 Filbert street, met with a runaway accident in Berkeley Saturday afternoon and narrowly escaped serious injury. He was driving a spirited team down University avenue, when the neck yoke on the off horse broke and the lively animals started into a mad run. They threw Adams out on the stone curbing as they dashed into a vacant lot. Adams escaped with a badly sprained ankle and numerous bruises about the body.

Life in the Country.

Uncle Si Hackett was behind his counter weighing some sugar for Mrs. Skinner's boy Bill, when Ezra Rabb dropped in to get a new whetstone.

"I hear this mornin'," said Ezra, "that Pete Hodgin died last night over on Willow creek."

"I want to know!" said Uncle Si. "Must of been powerful sudden. Poor Pete. He had his faults like the rest of us, but there wuz never a better hearted feller lived. And so Pete's gone! Lord, Lord, Lord! That there man never had half the credit he deserved. I doubt if he wuzn't lots better than the folks that used to run him down. He always had a kind word for everybody, an' there never wuz the day he wouldn't drop his own work to help a neighbor out. Poor Pete."

"He used to drink right smart, didn't he?" asked Ezra as he reached down into the dried apple barrel.

"Why, he took his dram," said Uncle Si, covering the barrel with a board and laying a subsoil plough on top of it, "but they wa'nt no better man altogether in the county than Pete. He was as fine a man as I ever saw. As I said, he had his faults, but outside of them he wuz a shore 'nough gentleman and one of the high mindedest Christian citizens we had."

"Kinder lazy, I allays thought," said Ezra.

"That he wuzn't," said Uncle Si, warmly. "Pete took things easy, but of ever wuz a man tried to do his duty and was good to his family and friends, it wuz Pete. I don't mind any man in the whole country we could have any wuss spared than Pete Hodgin and of ther town wuz to do its duty it would call a meetin' and resolute some about the loss his death will be to the community."

"Here comes Jim Hoskins," said Ezra; "maybe he kin tell us what wuz the matter with Pete. Hello, Jim; know what Pete Hodgin died of?"

"It wa'nt Pete" said Jim; "it were Sam Hodgin, his brother."

"It wuz Sam, wuz it?" said Uncle Si, taking off his spectacles and wiping them on a bolt of calico. "Well, now! Think on the ways ov the Lord. He's taken off Sam, the best man for forty miles around, and left that lazy, triflin', drunken lowdown, sheep stealin' brother Pete of his'n for to camber up the yearth!"—Detroit Free Press.

WILL RUN THREE BOATS AN HOUR.

No More Weary Waits on the Broad-Gauge Local System.

Carrying Out of the Plan Detailed in "The Tribune" Weeks Ago.

As announced exclusively in the Tribune several weeks ago, the Southern Pacific Company is now ready to run broad gauge boats every twenty minutes. The date of the commencement of the new service is not yet definitely announced, but is is understood to be about September 1st.

To carry out the new plan, the steamer Encinal has been enlarged and remodeled and has cost a small fortune. She has just come off the ways at West Oakland, practically a new boat. The Encinal has been lengthened at both ends, has been rebuilt from the guards up, her cabins have been remodeled and refurnished and a complete electric light plant has been put in to take the place of the diogenic lamps that have made the darkness visible for years.

The necessary arrangements have been made at the mole, and the Encinal, Piedmont and Oakland will all be placed on the broad gauge route.

The Piedmont will probably leave on the hour, the Encinal twenty minutes after and the Oakland twenty minutes before the hour.

The new service will prove a great boon to travelers who have been accustomed to wait half an hour for the trains.

DOODY'S BACK SALARY.

The Ex-Assistant Chief Files a Claim With the Commissioners.

Miles Doody is still after the $25 which he alleges is due him for six days' service in the Fire Department after his position was declared vacated by the City Council two years ago.

Doody's place was lost when the Council, to cut down expenses, abolished the place of second assistant chief. To do this, both the first and second assistant offices were abolished, and when the first assistant was again appointed Murdoch won the place. Doody served six days before he was notified officially of his removal. He presented a claim for $25 to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, but his claim was not allowed, and now he has filed another claim with the present Board.

THE CORNER STONE LAID.

Three Hundred People Witness the Ceremony at Beulah.

Odd Fellows Seal the Stone of the New Home for Aged and Infirm.

The corner stone of the new Home for Aged and Infirm Colored People at Beulah was laid yesterday afternoon under the auspices of District Grand Lodge No. 32 of Grand United Lodge of Odd Fellows. Representatives from Golden Gate, Aerlel of San Francisco and Pacific of San Jose were present.

The day was beautiful, and a large crowd of people had gathered on the top of the hill where the new building is to stand, when a squad of about sixty Odd Fellows in handsome uniforms marched up the road and arranged themselves in a hollow square. The regular lodge ceremonies were conducted by Noble Grand A. D. French, Vice-Grand J. Clayton, and Noble Father W. R. Stanley, each with two assistants.

The address of the occasion was delivered by District Grand Master G. W. Wilson. He spoke of the perseverance and energy displayed by the Old People's Home Association in collecting the necessary funds for the new Home.

The ceremonies after the address were conducted by A. Dumas Jones as master of ceremonies, John C. Rivers as master of reception, and J. E. Wysinder as chief marshal. The Past Noble Fathers had charge of the rites of the golden goblets. Chas Overton scattered the corn, Mr. Contame strewed the earth and R. C. Francis poured the water. While the stone was being sealed, Chaplain White had the ceremonies in charge.

Most Venerable Patriarch J. C. Rivers, A. Dumas Jones, and Jesse Wysinder composed the committee of arrangements.

The Old People's Home Association which was founded five years ago, has now a membership of nearly 100. The funds on hand are sufficient to insure the costs of the new building, when will be about $4,000. The structure, which will contain sixteen rooms, will be completed within two months.
